Council in D.C. 'Claim Jumpers?'

Opponent Claims Owner In Redevelopment Area Is Like a 'Goldminer'

By FRANK LAPIERRE
Post Staff Writer

An opponent of the proposed Daly City redevelopment project on Monday compared homeowners in the area to "goldminers" and the city council to "claim jumpers."

The speaker, Conrad Thebolis of Theta Street, said persons that would be affected by redevelopment have saved all their lives to acquire their homes "only to have them taken away from us.

"It's kind of like the old days when a man staked a (gold) claim on a piece of ground and someone came along and jumped his claim," Thebolis said.

Many of the persons crowding the city council chambers at City Hall were there to protest establishment of a redevelopment agency. Others simply wanted more information and assurances the public would be allowed to participate in the plan.

Mrs. Pearl Hastings charged the council with railroading the program through — whether the people wanted it or not.

Attempts by Mayor Bernard J. Lycett to explain that the subject of redevelopment in "old Daly City" was only being studied and had not been formulated as yet failed to quiet Mrs. Hastings' fears.

At the end of the informal hearing on the subject she announced formation of a homeowners group that would meet on the matter later this week.

The word "redevelopment" has unsavory connotations attached to it, one speaker noted.

Other speakers insisted that the population of the area bounding the Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART) station had a "good mixture" and was certainly not a ghetto. Why should it be razed, the city was asked?

City manager David Rowe explained there was a difference between "redevelopment" and "renewal."

Houses might be rehabilitated under the "renewal program" while others, perhaps beyond salvage, would be slated for destruction under the redevelopment phase of the project.

But the council throughout the meeting made it clear the formation of a development agency was only for the purpose of study — not to undertake any physical redevelopment at this time.

At the outset of the meeting homeowner Thebolis asked Mayor Lycett what the philosophy of the agency would be.

"What is the attitude of this board on the matter of redevelopment," he asked.

"I honestly don't know how to answer that," Lycett replied. "This is the first time (the council) has seen this in written form."

Lycett did concede there would be powers of condemnation. However beyond that he would have to rely on the results of the upcoming study for further determinations.

This study may take from six months to a year, according to Rowe.

Citizen participation in such an undertaking is a must, according to Al Jenkin, another homeowner in the BART station area.

Jenkin said he felt the city already had specific areas for redevelopment "nailed down." These areas were around the BART station.

The council denied this.

"Redevelopment has been a fiasco in many cities. Daly City can be an example for the nation ... the world," Jenkin said.

Redevelopment in the city was not a new idea, according to councilman McRobert Stewart.

The General Plan of 1968, participated in by some 120 citizens indicated such a project should be under way within six years.

And it was pointed out by Mayor Lycett that during the past six years there has been no rezoning of properties north of Jefferson High School — some five blocks south of the BART station.

The redevelopment agency will be formed under state law and will consist of the five councilmen. Law provides the agency may have seven members.

Federal funding may be used for certain park sites, libraries and other public buildings, otherwise the agency will operate at an initial deficit using city monies from the general fund, Rowe explained.

Court's Ruling Supports Board

Cohn Decides Binding Arbitration Illegal

Presiding Superior Judge Melvin E. Cohn has upheld the Jefferson Elementary School District in its contention that binding arbitration of grievances with dihtrict employees is not valid.

In a decision Monday, Judge Cohn ruled that a memorandum of agreement entered into between the board of trustees September 10, 1970, and the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association is, in effect, just that, and not binding upon the school board.

The school board asked for a court ruling as to the validity and effectiveness of the agreement after a dispute arose concerning a maternity leave of absence for a district teacher, Mrs. Joan Bent.

Refusal of the school board to adopt the memorandum as a binding bilateral contract in negotiations this year resulted in strike by classroom teachers at the start of the school year. The teachers finally went back to work after the board rescinded dismissal proceedings against the strikers following several court appearances before Judge Cohn.

In his decision yesterday, the judge states that the "Legislature has taken the position that school boards should be interested in and give consideration to the opinions of the professional staff in the operations of schools.

"However, it seem to the court that the Legislature is also quite clearly saying that school boards, having been elected by the people and being responsible to the people, should and must have the final responsibility for decisions that are made."

Judge Cohn notes in the decision that the Education Code provides for non-binding arbitration of "persistent disagreements" at the negotiating council level.

Miss Anita Jackson, president of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association, declined comment on the ruling this morning, except to say she was disappointed.

She said she had not read the document and had not yet conferred with California Teachers Association leaders or with her own JCTA staff on the ruling.

The facts in this matter are not in dispute, the judge said. Both sides generally agree that on September 10, 1970, the Negotiating Council representing the certificated employees and the Board of Trustees for the Jefferson Elementary School District entered into a "memorandum of agreement," he stated.

The document was executed by single representatives of each group. Later that same day the Board of Trustees "ratified" the said "memorandum of agreement."

Soon after the memorandum was ratified a dispute arose between the certificated employees and the School Board over the interpretation of the agreement.

"Plaintiff, the school district,

Local Architect Might Design, Select a Site

By BOB PETERSON

Site selection and design of the proposed new police facility in South San Francisco likely will be by a local architect.

Councilmen held up for two weeks their final selection of the firm for the job. At least two of the city officials openly indicated their preference for a local man.

The recommendation of City Manager Gale Dreisbach and Police Chief Sal Rosano got no more than cursory notice.

Councilman Frank Mammini, who along with the other councilmen interviewed four architects, said the man who made the best presentation (supposedly Dreisbach and Rosano's choice) is not necessarily the best architect.

"An architect in our own community is bound to do a better job than an outsider," said Mammini. "He will have to do a better job or he won't get another job (in the city)."

Qualifying his statement by adding that he wasn't insisting the councilmen had to choose locally, Mammini said he thought the only fair thing to do is to go out and look at the work of all the architects nvolved.

Councilman Frank Bertucelli agreed. "We owe it to local architects to see some of their work," he said.

Bertucelli referred to the city's swimming pool, presently viewed as imperfect because of numerous hairline cracks on the concrete apron, as an example of work by an "outsider."

As with Mammini, Bertucelli said he was not recommending any particular person. Two of the four firms on the list prepared by Dreisbach and Rosano are from South San Francisco.

Initially six firms were considered. They were Robert Hawley of San Francisco, DeLong-Lundburg of Burlingame, George Avanessian, Markling-

DC Senior Complex Approved

The once-controversial senior citizens complex to be built near Mission and Market streets in Daly City was approved by the city council Monday.

But the 112-unit complex for low income seniors is a long way from becoming a reality, Mayor Bernard J. Lycett feels.

Earlier this week, Lycett, two representatives from the Housing and Urban Development (HUD) agency, builder Bernard Hagan, councilman Louis J. Papan and San Mateo County Housing Authority officials discussed the matter at length, it was learned.

The results of the meeting were less than heartening.

For one thing, HUD has no funds available for any Bay Area projects at this time and does not think it will be able to fund any projects until spring of 1972. Their funds are allocated quarterly.

And for another, HUD spokesmen ventured they would only go along with Hagan on a 75-unit structure — not the proposed 112-unit three-story building.

Hagan was optimistic, however, that once he gets into specifics with various government agencies they will get the necessary money.

"We do not intend to stand in the way (of the project)," Lycett said after informing the large group of senior citizens attending the meeting "we think it's a long way off."

The senior citizens, led by Mrs. Virgil Davis, president of the Daly City Senior Citizens Club, have waged a continuing fight to have the complex approved.

S.S.F. Owners File Suit In Dust Case

Thirty-six South San Francisco property owners have filed suit in Superior Court for a total of $1,080,000 damages, claiming that dust from various construction and development projects has caused them major problems.

Named defendants are Piombo Construction Company and G.M.T. Investors, described as grading contractor and general partner respectively for Westborough Unit No. 4; L.C. Smith Company, builder of a Junipero Serra Freeway link in the area; Arthur "Buzz" Haskins, J.H. Snyder Company and Beverly Glenwood Corporation, reported in a joint venture for development of Westborough West Park Unit No. 3; and Suburban Realty Company, identified as owner of land adjacent to Westborough West Park from which Haskins allegedly hauled earth.

The suit, filed by Gordon W. Hackett, San Bruno attorney, alleges thot between January 8, 1968 and November 1, 1971, dust from the aforementioned projects, plus construction work by Piombo on Westborough Boulevard for the past 18 months, has created dust which has settled on area homes and areas, precluding use of home ventilation or use of outdoor patios and barbecue areas.

Delano Man Is Appointed San Bruno City Manager

A 38-year-old father of two, who had served as city manager of Delano for the past four years, has been named as city manager of San Bruno.

Gerald D. Minford will report for duty to San Bruno on Dec. 16 at a starting salary of $24,000 a year, the same pay received by Gerard Vergeer, the last year of his service before retiring last year.

Minford graduated from San Jose State College in 1959 with a bachelor in recreation, and went to work as director of parks and recreation at Ojai. He received his master's degree in public administration at UCLA in 1962, and went to work in assistant city manager posts in Montebello and Santa Cruz before his Delano appointment.

His appointment to the San Bruno post was announced at a press conference Tuesday. The council voted unanimously, according to Mayor Maury Hamilton, to name Minford during an all-day meeting Saturday, after intensive interviewing of the final three applicants.

Hamilton and his fellow councilmen reported, during the press conference, that they had followed strictly all the steps they had set up in making the appointment, in an apparent effort to avoid the strife following the last city manager appointment, which wound up in recall of two councilmen.

The procedures included intensive background investigation into the final applicants.

"The Council was particularly impressed," Hamilton stressed, "with his management philosophy and his experience in budgeting, planning and community organization."

Applicants were checked on how they met crises. Minford came to Delano as that city faced a $175,000 deficit, solved the deficit without a tax increase, and the tax has remained the same. In addition, councilmen were impressed by the way he handled the problems arising from the grape strike.

"We were impressed by his calm, confident manner," Hajilton added, ". . . the kind of fellow who would make a good leader."

Minford announced his resignation to his council Monday night and gave them notice. They were disturbed at his leaving, according to Hamilton.

He and his wife Joan have two daughters, 5 and 7. He will come to San Bruno this Saturday for a preliminary meeting with his new city council.

Freeway 380 Meeting Set For Tonight

If members of the "Freeway Fighting Fund" have their way, there will be no seat left vacant at this Wednesday's joint school district-city freeway meeting slated at City Hall on Monday at 8 p.m.

Neither would there be any extension of Freeway Route 380 through the Crestmoor Canyon.

This is the newest group which is fighting the freeway extension. It is led by residents of the Crestmoor area, many of whom had been associated with the recent recall movement. In past months, much of the anti-freeway campaign had been carried on by groups who have included leaders associated with the anti-recall movement.

Present from the Division of Highways will be Jim Rae, senior design engineer, and Charles Privetti, assistant district engineer. There will be numerous maps on display at the meeting and they will be present to answer questions. In addition, they will have a court reporter present who will record all comments from the public and include them in the final environmental report to be submitted to the State Highway Commission and the Department of Transportation.

Although the official deadline has passed for adding comments to the final report, the deadline has been extended to include any made Wednesday night.

In the meantime, U.S. District Judge Robert Peckham has postponed the date for a hearing on issuing an injunction against the State Division of Highways, — halting all work on extension of Freeway Route 380 — from November 18 to December 16.

Larry Mobley, FFF spokesman, issued an appeal for all local citizens to turn out at the public meeting. He, Orville Wykoff and Terri Rassmussen are spending their weekend gathering all possible material to present at the hearing.

Mobley charged that the environmental report had many gaps of information and that his group would try to gather this

Councilmen Unhappy

Cracks in S.S.F. Plunge

Hairline cracks on the deck of South San Francisco's new inslated at City Hall on Monday displeased councilmen.

They voted to have the cracks covered by the contractor, while not attempting to hide displeasure that they were less than satisfied with the job.

Building Inspector Roy Ghilardi said, "the concrete was poured completely wrong."

Ghilardi said he was supposed to be the inspector on the job, but that the building department was never once contacted during the construction.

According to Ghilardi the masonite strip expansion joints apparently were placed correctly, but the cement finishers while smoothing the area missed these joints by two or three inches.

A year ago the city required the contractor, Martinelli Construction Company, to post a $15,000 bond to insure that at the end of that year the floor would be replaced if the cracks were caused by structural damage. If they were the result of shrinkage, the firm would be required to correct the default — this first time only, even though the default in the form of hairline cracks may reappear later.

In a report filed by City Engineer Lou Goss and Director of Parks and Recreation Robert Maxey, the cracks are the same as when inspected a year ago, indicating they are shrinkage cracks.

Councilmen had to make a decision, since the year was up, on whether to accept the work as shrinkage cracks or to seek an alternative, such as replacing the decking.

City Attorney John Noonan said, "If you really think it is bad (structural damage) you need a report from a structural engineer. But evidence points to the fact it is not structural."

Noonan said the work should have been stopped when the concrete was put in if it wasn't being done right.

Councilman Frank Bertucelli said, "We didn't order a pool with cracks." He asked whether the contractor couldn't be made to keep the cracks repaired in perpetuity.

Noonan's replay was that "We can't make him (the contractor a constant repairman."

Councilman Frank Mammini pointed out that the city had not made any specific requirements in the specifications that there would not be hairline cracks in the concrete.

It was suggested by Councilman Warren Steinkamp that continual use of the pool would eventually lead to a covering of the cracks with dirt.

Libel Suit Helps D.C. Recall, Group Says

A $500,000 libel suit filed against supporters of a recall movement aimed at ousting three members of the Jefferson elementary school board has given the movement a "shot in the arm."

This was the opinion of Mrs. Mariane Fitzpatrick, spokesman for the Parents Concerned for Our Schools.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick, accompanied by Carolyn Huertas, another member of the recall group, Thursday critized the suit filed recently in Redwood Cty by consulting firm that was involved in recent negotiations with Jefferson Elementary School District teachers.

Plaintiffs are Raymond Veterlein, Eugene Aiello, David J. Friedenberg and their firm, Public Labor Relations Inc.

It is contended that the recall group libeled themselves by describing the negotiators as "incompetent."

Both Mrs. Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Huertas claim the school board-teacher strike action is a "public controversy" and the Public Labor Relations group is "a party to this by being involved as negotiators."

"Anything said about figures involved in a public controversy is privileged and not subject to libel. Nowhere are the negotiators mentioned by name. They brought attention to themselves by this lawsuit," Mrs. Fitzpatrick said.

She paraphrased President Truman's famous statement for newsmen: "If they can't stand the heat, they should stay out of the kitchen!"

The recall movement against JESD trustees Mrs. Dorothy Adams, Albert Collett and William Schumacher has been helped oy publicity generated by the lawsuit, Mrs. Fitzpatrick said.

Since the suit was filed more than 200 people, including 100 teachers, have volunteered to has asked for a declaration as to the validity and effectiveness of the . . . agreement," Judge Cohn said in his decision, and the "plaintiff contends that the parties purported to enter into a binding bilateral contract; that their efforts on that behalf were void and ineffectual for all purposes.

"Defendants contend that this document does not purport to be a contract but rather a proposal of terms to be adopted by the Board of Trustees as part of its rules and regulations. . . ."

Judge Cohn backgrounded the Winton Act as a special "statutory scheme . . . to govern employment relations between certificated employees and school districts."

He said the Winton Act sets up a system not found in any other employment relationship:

"It is clear that the Legislature intended that traditional collective bargaining concepts not be applied to this relationship," he said.

Further, the judge stated, the act contemplates great freedom of public school employees to join and participate in the activities of employee organizations of their own choosing or to refuse to join or participate and represent themselves individually in their employment relations.

It further contemplates representatives of employee organizations meeting and conferring with representatives of a public school employer or, in the event that there is more than one employee organization representing certificated members, representatives of such employee organizations meeting with the public school employer through a certificated employee council, he said.

The matters to be discussed range from employment conditions and employee and employer relations to the definition of education objectives, the determination of the content of courses and curricula, the selection of textbooks, and other aspects of the instructional program "to the extent such matters are within the discretion of the public school employer or governing board under the law," he said, quoting from an Education Code section.

The jurist said that while the Legislature did recognize that teachers have views and demands which should honestly be considered by school boards, it has long been well settled that powers conferred on public agencies and officers which involve the exercise of judgment or discretion are in the nature of a public trust and cannot be surrendered or delegated in the absence of statutory authorization.

"This limitation in the delegation of powers having been the California law for many years was inferentially in the Winton Act when the so-called memorandum of agreement was entered into," Judge Cohn said.

The judge further stated:

"Defendants apparently take the position that the memorandum of agreement is not a binding contract but that somehow because the Board ratified it that it thereupon became binding without being a contract. This theory seems to be completely untenable.

"In the first place, the memorandum of agreement deals with negotiating procedures, grievance procedures, teaching hours, class size, teaching conditions, school supplies, teacher evaluation, promotions, transfers, leaves, hiring and recruiting, and textbooks, as well as salaries and many other topics.

"In the court's opinion, Article II, Subsection (1) of the agreement which states 'no change, revision, alteration or modification of this agreement in whole or in part shall be valid unless the same is ratified by the Board and Negotiating Council and endorsed in writing thereon by the Board's representative and the chairman of the negotiating council or its chief negotiator, respectively.'

"In the court's opinion, to give effect to this agreement, contract, memorandum, or whatever one wants to call it would be a clear delegation of the board's discretionary powers and would be a clear violation of California law as codified subsequently in Section 13088 on the Education Code."

Furthermore, Judge Cohn said, the Board of Education is a governmental entity with very limited powers granted to it by the legislature. The Board has only such powers as are expressly granted by statute or necessarily implied from such specific grant of authority.

"The statutes vest no power in a school board to contract away that which is in their legislative authority, i.e., those matters which the Education Code dictates be dealt with by resolution, rules and regulations of a school district," he wrote.

Additionally, the Judge stated: "A school board is clearly charged with the duty to fix and prescribe the duties to be performed by all persons in public school service in the school district." (Education Code Section 931).

"The board is to 'prescribe rules not inconsistent with law or with the rules prescribed by the State Board of Education for the government and discipline of the schools under its jurisdiction'." (Education Code Section 1052).

When these sections are interpreted in conjunction with the Winton Act, it becomes apparent that the Legislature intended that a school board have a unilateral authority to determine the rules, regulations and policies of a school district.

He said that the issue raised in this case centers around Article V, Section 9 (b) of the memorandum of agreement which provides for binding arbitration of grievances.

"Since it is the court's position that the memorandum of agreement as a binding contract is void," Judge Cohn states, "the latter thereupon becomes moot."

Frank Greenwood, Jefferson district superintendent, called the judge's ruling "complete vindication" of the stand taken by the trustees in refusing to sign a contract with JCTA.

"The unfortunate aspect of the whole matter is, that had the teachers' leadersship been willing to stipulate that they would abide by the Court's ruling in this case when it was decided, there need have been no strike," Greenwood said.

He stated in a news release yesterday:

"The strike leaders knew this case was pending. They knew deep down in their hearts that the board's refusal to sign the contract they wanted would be upheld by the Court. Yet when the Board offered to rescind its order terminating the employment of those on the picket line if the teachers' organization would agree to await the Court's decision in the Bent case, the strike leaders let the deadline for returning to work pass by.

"Only hours after this deadline had passed and the strike was into its active stage did the strike leaders tell the teachers what the Board had offered to do.

"As a consequence, an unnecessary and illegal strike continued for 27 days. The striking teachers sacrificed $1,300 on the average in salary for nothing. Daly City parents and the public were treated to a decisive action, and the pawns in this 'game' for prestige of the organized teachers' body were the children.

"We hope that the plain and forceful language employed in Judge Cohn's decision will serve notice on the powerful teachers' lobby, that in Daly City the electorate still retains the right to run its public schools.

"The strike and the firing of the 227 teachers rested solely on the issue of a binding conctract. These actions could have been avoided had they awaited the court's decision.

"The Board has ever since the conclusion of the strike been waiting to hear from the teachers so the 'meet and confer' negotiations, as provided by the law, can be resumed. We have yet to hear from them."

help gather the necessary 4,600 signatures needed to bring the issue to a public vote.

"We have more than 3,000 registered voters signed up. Our goal is 6,000 and it's in sight now," Mrs. Fitzpatrick said.

Both women called the suit a "contemptible scheme" aimed at "casting fear in the hearts and minds" of those working on the recall.

They also slapped the district's recent questionnaire sent to parents in the school district asking thir opinion of recent event surrounding the techer strike and subsequent ruling of the Euperior Court in the matter.

"In it's typical bungling fashion, the (JESD) board has again infuriated the parents . . . by mailing . . . a questionnaire of absolutely no value to anyone," Mrs. Fitzpatrick read from a prepared statement.

Although the recall group doesn't think it will need a defense attorney in the lawsuit ("it's only a smokescreen") they have obtained the services of San Francisco attorney Peter Keane.

Superintendent Frank L. Greenwood of the Jefferson Elementary School District has termed the recall petition efforts of the Political Action Council of Teachers in Daly City as "a sad commentary on the ends to which the minority teachers who were recently on strike to halt education will go to further misguide parents in what is a patently political maneuver, instead of spending their time and effort to provide a good education for the children."

Pointing out that the recall group, with which the Political Action Council is aligned, calls itself Parents Concerned for Our Schools, Greenwood declared that, "Parents really concerned about their children want education to come first."

"The district believes that quality education is its paramount concern; this is the objective which the district is and will continue to achieve," Greenwood said.

"Of course, it is a right under our democratic form of government for any citizen to sign or not sign a petition calling for an election. But, those who are now being pressured to sign the recall should be made aware that political revenge is the aim of this movement, not the quality of education," Greenwood claimed.

"There can be no mistake that the recall is politically motivated," he added.

"This is not my analysis, but was so stated by the teachers' Political Action Council in a letter to the teachers of the district soliciting donations to bolster the recall campaign.

"This letter stated, and I quote from it, 'We're involved in a political campaign—there's no mistaking it. And political campaigns cost money. For example a very modest program . . . would cost a minimum of $3,000. Therefore we need your commitment for $10.00'."

The libel suit filed recently by the firm of Public Labor Relations, Inc., against the Concerned Parents for Better Schools, Greenwood pointed out, is an individual action of a private company, and the school district is in no way related to that action.

Yamasaki and David Rivera, all of South San Francisco and Robert Wong of San Francisco.

Dreisbach and Rosano eliminated Hawley and Rivera from that list and recommended Wong. All but the two eliminated were interviewed by the councilmen on November 1.

Mammini said a police station was nothing more than "a glorified office building," and any architect could build it regardless of whether he's done that type of job before, simply by calling in consultants.

Of the four firms interviewed by the councilmen three of them have worked on public buildings, specifically a police station. Two of the four have constructed several. Avanessian has not.

Rosano said he did not want to infer that all the architects were not qualified. He said he was sure they were.

information, which he alleged was neglected by the Division of Highways, to present at Wednesday's meeting.

These gaps, he charged, included the effect on the climate from the proposed cut in Sweeney Ridge, and the effects of the 2½ million cubic yard dirt haul from that cut, across the northern end of the watershed and game preserve, through Crestmoor Canyon and between two schools.

"We've contacted top environmental consulting firms who have battled freeway construction before," Mobley notes, "in the hope of making expert testimony to the Environmental Impact statement."

Terri Rasmussen, 101 Dover Ct., coordinator of FEF, appealed for funds from local residents to help pay for hiring these firms. So far, some $500 have been committed by residents and local organizations.

Erection of Homeowners' Sign Okay'd

A South San Francisco homeowners group Monday night received approval from the city council to "do their thing" in erecting a subdivision entrance sign.

The formal petition to allow Country Club Estates Homeowners Association to plan, erect and pay for the sign was made by President Homer V. Hale. The group already has retained the services of a registered landscape architect.

Hale said residents of the area do not believe that any area identification should be provided with city tax funds or "beautification dollars."

The sign, which will be in the center median of Arroyo Drive at Junipero-Serra Boulevard, if built by the city (as originally planned) would be the first done so with city money.

Hale said, "We do not want to set a precedent. We recommend that the city beautification funds that would thus be freed (estimates up to $5,000) should be spent on landscape planning for Westborough Park, Phase II, a more appropriate expenditure."

This suggestion drew a quick response from Councilman Patrick Ahern, noted for his procrastination on the park project.

"The suggestion as to how we use our (city) money is a little bit out of your balliwick," said Ahern, who then went on to praise the homeowner's group efforts.

EILEEN DOYLE, 17 freshman at College of San Mateo who lives in Millbrae, sponsored by the Associated Men Students, was named Homecoming Queen at Saturday's football game between San Jose City College at CSM before 2,000. Eileen defeated 25 candidates, with slightly over 1,000 people voting. She is a Mills High graduate.

Youth Advisory Council Sanction Again Delayed

Official sanction of the Youth Advisory Council in South San Francisco was put off another two weeks Monday night.

Reason for the postponement was to allow the city's park and recreation commissioners an opportunity to respond to the proposal.

City Attorney John Noonan had prepared a resolution declaring the council's intention to approve of the Youth Advisory Council.

The council will function as a private organization advising, discussing, recommending and initiating activities that best serve the youth of the city.

Noonan's efforts were praised by the youth group.

City Manager Gale Dreisbach requested the continuance, "since the parks and recreation department has not reported back yet."

Looking for a cheap new car?

We don't have it in stock, but we'll be glad to order one for you. If you don't want a radio, heater or whitewalls there's no reason you should pay for them.

Most of our customers do like some creature comforts, though. We keep about a hundred cars in stock, and we order them with the equipment most people want. Sure, it adds to the price . . . but there are benefits to offset the cost. Polyglas tires, front-disc power brakes and power steering make the car — and your family — safer. Electronic ignition on all of our V-8s provides even better reliability, cuts pollution and more than pays for itself in tune-up savings. And a prudent person looks ahead several years to trade-in time. A well equipped car brings more on a trade-in or sale than the stripped model. Besides, you'll probably spend many hours in your car. How luxurious you want it to be is up to you.

So whether your decision is for the stark, basic big car, an every-option Dart or anything that Dodge offers we'll be glad to discuss it with you. The one thing that does come with every Tanforan Dodge is TRUE VALUE! It's standard here. You don't pay a cent more for it.

Come in, have a cup of coffee and talk it over.

Sincerely,
Joe Francis

Two Die, Two Rescued In Fire at Daly City

A man and his young niece died in a blazing Daly City fire last Wednesday but two others were saved by a 16 year old youth who fought his way through intense smoke and heat.

The roaring two-alarm blaze in the three-story structure at 330 Irvington Street lit up the night sky and leaped to 328 Irvington, totally involving the roof of that building at one point.

Dead are Billie Alfred Sabella and his son, Billie, whose bodies were found in the home at 330 Irvington after firemen extinguished the flames.

Kenneth Danridge, 16, led to safety Dick Cornuelle, 45, of 1670 Mission Street, San Francisco, and Cornuelle's niece, Suzy Gettys, 7.

Cornuelle, who is confined to Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City for treatment of burns, had been visiting the Sabella home. He was reported in satisfactory condition this morning.

Suzy Gettys was not hospitalized.

The wife and mother of the two fire victims was reported by firemen already in the hospital, recuperating from a stroke suffered three weeks ago.

Mel Hanson, Daly City Fire Department battalion chief, had high praise for the heroic efforts of Danridge, whose mother first sighted the fire as flames reached out windows to light up the night sky.

Danridge, who lives at 322 Irvington, north of the Sabella residence, first attempted to get into the blazing house through the front entrance.

Failing, and unable to get to the rear of the Sabella home because of high side-yard fences, Danridge went through his own house and returned to the Sabella residence via backyards, Hanson said.

The youth then climbed a lean-to-type of back porch to reach a bedroom window on the third floor. He found and assisted the Gettys child and her uncle Cornuelle to the outside.

Danridge, the son of the Artie Danridges, has been described by Serramonte High School officials as a "very liekable" black youth, tall and heavyset.

He began his junior year at Serramonte in September, but only yesterday was transferred to Thornton High because officials said, he could not adjust to modular scheduling.

Firemen received successive calls from the neighborhood each phone indicating the progress of the fire to be worse, Chief Hanson said.

He said a second alarm was signalled by him at 12:30 a.m., only five minutes after the initial alarm.

The smoke and flame of the blaze could be seen for miles.

The Sabella house, which was destroyed, was so engulfed by flame, Hanson said, that it was impossible for firemen to attempt immediate rescue.

"It had burned a long time before we even got the call," he said.

The home was a a tall structure in the "Old Daly City" region, east of Mission Street. Its ground-floor garage, second-story eating-dining area and bedroom, and the two third-floor bedrooms were gutted, Hanson said, wtih an estimated structural loss of $25,000. Contents were valued at least at $1500, he said.

The fire was described as "very hot," and all of the initial fighting was from the street, because the firemen were unable to get up the stairs.

Hanson said the fire apparently started in the living room, toward the front of the house, on the second floor. The cause has not been determined.

Sabella's body was found in the kitchen on the second floor, while young Billie was discovered dead in his third-story bedroom.

Damaged windows were reported at a home on the other side of the Sabella house not as a result of fire, but because a shovel and bricks were thrown through them to awaken its occupants.

Thanksgiving Rites Slated

Thanksgiving services will be held at 9:30 and 11 a.m. at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377 87th Street, Daly City.

"Thanking God for Hard Things" will be the sermon given by Pastor Herbert Tweedie. The communion of the Lord's Supper will be served by elders of the church.

The congregation will hold a service at 8:45 a.m. November 25 in the social hall. It will be preceded by a continental breakfast at 8:14 a.m.

Ground Broken for King Plaza Center

The first shovels-ful of dirt were lifted by Daly City dignitaries and beauty, joined by Suburban Realty Company officials in groundbreaking ceremonies for the new King Plaza Shopping Center.

The King center is a project of the Suburban Realty Company of San Francisco, developers of the Serramonte Regional Shopping Center.

King Plaza will be a multi-million dollar neighborhood convenience shopping center designed to serve the utilitarian needs of families in contrast to the extensive facilities offered by a regional shopping center like Serramonte Center in Daly City.

King center has been on the planning boards since 1964, and is intended to service shopping needs for the tri-city areas of Daly City, South San Francisco and Pacifica.

The development of extensive tracts of new homes and apartments in this tri-city area, along with proposed future projects, points to the need for a centrally located neighborhood shopping center.

Anchoring King Plaza Center will be a new Quality Foods Market and Drug Center. The store will be designed with the latest innovations in retail marketing techniques, with emphasis placed on developing attractive and consumer convenient shopping facilities.

QFI has been a national award winner for its program of innovative merchandising. Sharing the spotlight with QFI are Hunt's Quality Donuts. For the Hunt's Donut organization this will be their fourth Daly City location. Other tenants will be: Serramonte Liquors, King Plaza Cleaners and Doug Mack's Cards and Gifts.

The King Plaza Center was designed by Andrew Cresci of Building Plans, Inc. Project Manager will be Edward V. Schulhauser, civil engineer for E. V. Schulhauser and Associates, Inc. Exclusive leasing representative will be Ted Wimberley of Suburban.

King plaza is scheduled for a grand opening in September, 1972.

The mayor of Pittsburg and a friend were jailed on charges of kidnap, assault to commit rape and child molesting Wednesday.

Police Lt. Bill Fugler said Mayor Marcelino Vasquez, 32, a division chief for the Office of Ecomoic Opportunity in San Francisco, and Manuel Reya, 21, of Daly City, were arraigned in Oakland Municipal Court Wednesday in the alleged abduction of a 13-year-old Alameda girl Monday night.

The girl told police that the men were visiting a neighbor of hers and playing ball with neighborhood kids, when "Vasquez grabbed her in areas she thought he shouldn't, so she went home," Fugler said.

When Vasquez and Reya later stopped a car on the street near her home and asked her to get in, she refused, Fugler said the girl reported.

She said they forced her into a car and drove to an Oakland park area.

A passing policeman heard her screaming from inside dense shrubbery where the girl said the two men had taken her.

Vasquez gave a Daly City address when arrested, Fugler said, and police didn't know until Wednesday that he was the mayor of Pittsburg.

He has served on the Pittsburg City Council for four years, two of them as mayor.

Judge Orders Route 380 Work Halted

U.S. District Court Judge Robert F. Peckham last week early issued a temporary restraining order, halting work on the extension of Interstate 380 from San Bruno to Pacifica.

Mrs. Elinor Larsen of San Bruno, a Sierra Club member and chairman of the 380 Study Committee, said she was pleased with the judge's decision.

"I think it's the first battle," she said. "We'll take them one at a time." The next scheduled confrontation between the freeway foes and the division of highways is scheduled for November 18.

Judge Peckham Monday afternoon set that date to hear arguments for a permanent injunction, while hearing Burlingame Attorney Joseph Bergeron's plea for the temporary restraining order.

Bergeron, representing a group of San Bruno residents and the Sierra Club in the matter, is scheduled to speak to the San Bruno John Muir P-TA at 8 p.m. Tuesday regarding his clients' position.

At the Monday session in U.S. District Court, San Jose, Bergeron told Judge Peckham the main concern is that failure to issue a restraining order would mean the beginning of a long dirt haul from the San Francisco watershed wildlife refuge, past a school yard.

The Division of Highways, represented by Norval Fairman, contended that the four-power agreement that established the San Francisco watershed and wildlife refuge also included a compromise agreement that a swath of land would be made available for a future road to the coast.

Fairman explained to the judge that what the division was asking simply was to do some test borings in preparation for construction of a pedestrian overpass, asked for by San Bruno officials.

Bergeron said the Division of Highways is violating a number of state and federal laws. He cited the National Environmental Policy of 1969, the Fish and Wildlife Act of 1956, the Migratory Bird Act, the Endangered Species Conservation Act of 1969, the Department of Transportation Act of 1966 and the Federal Aid Highways Act of 1968.

Judge Peckham also Tuesday ordered work stopped indefinitely on the 14-mile Foothill Freeway, State Route 238, that would run through the east bay cities of Hayward, Union City and Fremont.

Boy Injured In Bike Crash

Sixteen-year-old John M. Flint of 98 Teresa Street, Daly City, suffered serious head injuries last week when his bicycle was struck from the rear by an auto on El Camino Real in Colma.

The driver of the car was Carl L. McCurdy of 485 A Street, Apt. 14, Colma.

Officer L. R. Osborn said the youth's bicycle had no reflectors on the rear as he rode down the highway.

Coast Group Agrees With Moratorium

The membership of "Keep Pacifica Scenic" is in agreement with the building moratorium proposed for the western part of Sharp Park.

A letter to this effect was filed by council members last week for testimony as part of the scheduled public hearing on the proposal November 16.

The letter, signed by Clark L. Fitzwick, asked that three matters be given strong consideration in the redevelopment possibilities of the area.

It was recommended that ways of integrating the concerns of senior citizens be a primary factor in redevelopment plans. Special concern for maintaining integrity, individuality and charm of the residences of the area also was requested.

And thirdly, it was recommended that the city incorporate the thinking and ideas of Sharp Park residents and business people, and that the city use all possible ways of encouraging the Sharp Park community to participate in the redevelopment process.

Two Parents Rap School Questions

Two parents chided the Jefferson Elementary School District's Board of Trustees this week for a questionnaire circulated to measure community reaction to the September teachers' strike.

Bonnie Denman and Hal Fineberg both called the questionnaire of 12 questions biased and loaded.

The district's survey sought citizen opinion on action by teachers, the board and Judge Melvin Cohn during the strike and the days just prior to its settlement.

District Supt. Frank L. Greenwood has indicatd the results probably will be made available early next week. The results are still being re-checked and analized.

Greenwood's office indicated that of the 17,000 mailed, over 2000 questionnaires apparently have been returned.

In other business this week, trustees:

—Received commendation from the district's Personnel Commission for its actions during the teachers' strike.

—Rejected a Vista Grande P-TA request to contribute $250 toward purchase of a $340 refrigerator for the school and directed the district buy it.

—Approved the hiring of Art Andresen as supervisor of attendance and child welfare, at no cost to the district.

—Announced that recruitment of a minority principal for the George Washington School would be continued, but that a third change will not be made this year. Miss Marge Tobias, former Vista Mar principal, who resigned late last year, opened the school as a substitute, until the interim appointment of Georgina Nyhan recently.

—Approved modifications, relating to girls' wearing of long pants during inclement weather, to the Olympia School's dress code.

—Accepted the resignation of Food Services Director Carol Power, who is moving to the east coast.

Directed a policy that milk will be made available to every child attending school in the district.

Golden Gate Leap Victim Is Critical

The condition of Harry E. Harrington of Pacifica, who leaped off the Golden Gate Bridge Thursday, was reported critical today.

He is in the Intensive Care unit at Mission Emergency Hospital in San Francisco where he was rushed after the 270-foot plunge into the bay.

Harrington underwent hours of surgery Thursday during which his spleen was removed. Doctors reported finding extensive chest and liver damage.

Harrington, 36, lives at 345 Firecrest Avenue in Pacifica with his wife, Frida, and two children, Sandy, 11, and Daniel, 4.

His wife told authorities that her husband had been depressed over his job with the Internal Revenue Service. He left his wife a note. The family was to move shortly to Fresno where the IRS has opened new offices.

Harrington's leap was monitored by a bridge television camera as he went over the rail. His plunge ended in a 90-foot moat which surrounds the south tower of the bridge.

He was still conscious after the leap.

"He was swimming around trying to find a way out of the moat," said California Highway Patrolman Steve Ellis.

"I talked to him. He gave me his name, his age, his home address and telephone number. Not only that, he told me where his car was parked and its license number. He said he had left a note for his wife."

Coast Guardsmen and ambulance attendants found Harrington floundering in the moat under the bridge, from which at least 435 persons have leaped since its completion in 1936 Harrington was the sixth person known to have survived the leap.

Officers said that Harrington managed to remain afloat by grasping onto debris. He was in the water for 15 minutes before a Coast Guard cutter could reach him.

A Coast Guard seaman, Michael Zenone, 21, who was aboard the cutter, said he climbed up on the concrete wall which surrounds the moat.

He is quoted as saying, "At first I didn't see anything but a bunch of tires and garbage. Then I saw him treading water more or less and hanging onto something."

Zenone threw Harrington a life ring and told him to hold on. He gasped, "I can't . . . my chest. . . ."

Investigation disclosed he had parked his car at the Roundhouse restaurant lot about 10:30 a.m. and walked in rain down the sidewalk on the east side of the bridge.

He was watched as he climbed up on the railing and jumped. A pedestrian shouted at him, but he was gone, police reported.

Rescuers also reached Harrington by using the slow elevator inside the bridge tower, and helped Coast Guardsmen pull him aboard the cutter and speed him to the hospital.

Maintenance Of Pacifica Beaches Asked

Pacifica's parks, beaches and recreation commissioners have recommended the city council members place pressure on the county or state to take over maintenance of city beaches.

It is the commission's feeling that the beaches are a regional facility and clean-up responsibility should fall with the state or county.

Commissioners also said that since the city cannot afford to develop and maintain adequate parks and facilities for its own residents, it surely cannot afford to maintain the beach areas for use mostly by persons coming from outside the community.

Cong. B'nai Israel ORT Sabbath Set

Congregation B'nai Israel will sponsor ORT Sabbath on Friday. Sabbath services will begin at 8:30 p.m. and will be conducted by Cantor Henry Greenberg.

Speaker for the evening will be Mrs. Gary Rechnitz, vice-president of Northern California Coordinating Council of Women's American ORT.

"ORT" is the Organization for Rehabilitation Trough Training and in its 650 schools throughout 22 countries teaches vocational education.

It supplies teachers, buildings, material, etc. for both short and long-term. courses. Participating in the services and hosting the Oneg Shabbat will be members of the Northern and Sunlite Peninsula Chapters of Women's American ORT.

With Chanukah rapidly approaching, Sisterhood Congregation B'nai Irsael will have its annual Chanukah Bazaar on Nov. 28, from 3 to 5 p.m., according to Gift Shop chairman Mrs. Leon Levy.

Chanukah candles, decorations, books, toys, etc. are available. There is no admission charge and latkes (traditional food of the season; will be served to all who attend.

Congregation B'nai Israel is located at 1575 Annie St. in Colma, near the new Department of Motor Vehicles building.

A Safari For Gift Hunters

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Millbrae United Methodist Church is presenting a "Safari for Gift Hunters" on November 17 in the Fellowship Hall of the Church, Chadbourne and Popular Avenues, Millbrae.

The bazaar will feature the handiwork of a woman of the church and items from Bolivia and Hong Kong. A bake sale, a luncheon, and an art show are also planned.

The art show and sale will be previewed on November 16 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Contributors to the show have included Betty (Mrs. Powell) Cassidy, Florence (Mrs. Joseph) Cole, and Alexander Nepote.

Luncheon will be served from 11:30 to 1:30 p.m. the day of the bazaar. A fast service line will be set up for working people.

Profits from the "Safari" will be used for a number of programs. They include a Bolivian self-help project which provides money directly to the natives who create items sold; scholarships for students in Hong Kong; the Gum Moon residence in San Francisco; Community Contact in the Millbrae-San Bruno area; and the International Christian Youth Exchange Program.

Mrs. J. C. Russell is bazaar chairman.

Workshop for Roosevelt P-TA

Mrs. Betty Schultz, the president, announced that the November 18 meeting of the F.D. Roosevelt P-TA will involve its first Parent-Education Workshop.

Miss Cecile Paynter and Michael Rourke, co-chairmen of the committee, said they believe that the free exchange of ideas about such matters as the meaning of grades, school discipline policies and the inter-relation of the roles of teachers, parents and principals, can best be accomplished in small groups, according to Mrs. Schultz.

The committee she said, hopes that open discussion in small groups, which will report to the general membership, will afford an opportunity for hearing the views of a greater segment of the community.

The meeting in the F.D. Roosevelt multi-use room at 8 p.m. will be one of several this year in which the committee will attempt to seek the views of interested parties.

DC Pack 182 Gives Awards To Membership

Daly City Cub Pack 182 members, meeting at the United Methodist Church of Daly City, received awards.

Cubmaster Dennis Hanson presented Bobact badges to John Neligan and John Lafayette. Melvin Sears received his Bear badge and a gold arrow.

Webelos Greg Giusti, Arthur Ferrel, Darrell Wood and Bill Sundberg received their Showman badges and Billy Sundberg the Outdoorsman badge.

Melvin Sears and Peter Gim were received into the Webelos by Robert D'Angelo, the leader.

The theme for the month was Thanksgiving and each boy took a can of food for a Thanksgiving basket.

THE STUDENT Council of Fernando Rivera Intermediate School in Daly City gathers on the lawn after recent installation. With Principal Mrs. Iola McKeown and advisor Mrs. Dorothy Schneider are Amy Schwimmer, student affairs commissioner; Tia Speros, secretary; Evan Pappas, president; Carol Richwood, vice president; Keith Pult, treasurer.

(Post Photo)

ADMIRING SOME of the new items that will be available at Garden Villages' "Junque Boutique" are Mrs. James Shirley, Garden Village vice president; Mrs. Charles Weghorn, sixth grade teacher, and Mrs. Raymond Farnsworth, ways and means chairman. Charlie Farnsworth looks on. The sale will be held in the school's multi-use room, 208 Garden Lane, Colma, November 20, from 10-4.

Oceana P-TA to Meet Thursday

The Industrial Arts Education Department will provide the program at the Oceana High School P-TA meeting, Thursday at 8 p.m. in the school cafetorium.

Color slides will be shown, and a tour of the classrooms will enable students to give on-the-spot demonstrations of their work.

The a cappella choir, under the direction of Mr. Robert Shed, will present inspirational music at the opening of the meeting.

The treble choir will conduct a bake sale immediately following the meeting. Refreshments will be served at 7:45 p.m. and after the meeting.

Members, parents, and all interested persons are invited.

Broadmoor Pack Welcomes Bobcats

Cub Scout Pack 259, sponsored by Garden Village P-TA, welcomed new Bobcats and their parents. They included David Gamberg, Gregory Yannazzo, Michael Leong, Kurt Zevas, Gino Neys, Derek Kota, Alex Kippi, George Condon, Brett Arnott, Rory Arnott, Joseph Lewkowitz, John Munoz and Henry Braa. Ken Addad, Tony Reynolds, Richard Wright, Stance Nixon and Vincent Rosas entered Weblos which will be their last year of Cub Scouting.

Awards were given to the following scouts:

One Year Pins — Steven Funk, Joseph Vilas, John Barajas, Brad Kurrell, Mike O'Brien, Reuben Villar, Mitchel Wu and Scott Cuevas.

Bear Badges — Richard Wright and John Barajas.

Kenneth Addad received his two-year pin and one silver arrow on bear.

The Arrow of Light, the highest award possible in Cub Scouting, was awarded to Mike Scribner, Steve Cheechov and Clive Reece. These three scouts were welcomed into Boy Scout Troop 259 by Scoutmaster Neil Cappa.

Boys, eight years of age, and parents interested in joining Pack 259 may contact George Condon (992-2549) or Dale Wright (755-6262).

VD Topics at 17th District P-TA Meet

"VD and Violence — How They Affect the Tuned-Out Teen-ager" will be discussed Thursday when members on San Mateo County's Seventeenth District, California P-TA, gather to hear James Olsen, VD investigator for the San Mateo County Public Health Department, and Tom Roberts, supervisor, San Mateo County Juvenile Probation Department, present their views and answer questions.

Olson is expected to underscore the need for education about VD in the public schools beginning no later than seventh grade in order to help combat the epidemic proportions of this most communicable disease which will affect a minimum of 3000 young people in San Mateo County this year.

Roberts intends to explain the various types of problem situations which tend to lead young people into conflict with the law. He will attempt to answer questions on how such situation may be avoided.

Handcrafted Gift Items Needed

Handcrafted gift items are needed for the fourth annual Holiday Boutique at Periwinkle Gallery, Pedro Point, Pacifica, beginning November 23.

Creative housewives and senior citizens are invited to bring salable gift items and holiday decorations to the gallery. During past years the variety of handmade gifts has proven that Pacificans are innovative and resourceful.

The Boutique idea began as an answer to the search for unusual gifts combined with uncrowded, unhurried shopping in a pleasant atmosphere.

NELL NORTON

Sugar 'n Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

Thanksgiving Day is just a week away and it's not one bit too soon to be thinking about what we'll serve, how to prepare it and making up that shopping list.

The first Thanksgiving menu was a simple matter, dictated by the harvest and the luck of the hunter. If John's eye was sharp and his trigger finger steady, Priscilla had a nice turkey for Thanksgiving.

Fortunately for today's good cooks, selecting the turkey to suit our needs is a matter of going to the market and buying it. The only thing our hunters have to worry about is bringing home the bacon. (Sudden thought, I fear that "bringing home the bacon" is a faded phrase. What would be the "now" way of saying it?)

While the turkey is the center of the Thanksgiving dinner, the vegetables, dressing, salads and dessert are also most important. So let's think about some of these today.

SALADS

Since cranberries are an essential part of Thanksgiving dinner, either of these salads would be nice.

MOLDED CRANBERRY SALAD

1 pkg. orange flavored gelatin
2 cups raw cranberries, ground
1 cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped nuts
Juice of one lemon

Prepare the orange gelatin using one cup boiling water and three-fourths cup cold water. Add the juice of one lemon. Refrigerate until syrupy.

Grind up the cranberries. (If you freeze them first, they grind much easier.) Add the cup chopped celery and half cup nuts to the ground cranberries and mix into the syrupy gelatin. Pour into individual molds and chill overnight. Serve on lettuce with a dressing of mayonnaise to which you add a bit of fruit juice for color and flavor. Makes 8 molds.

I have never served this sour cream molded salad that it didn't receive raves. I've had it in the column before but want to remind you of it for this holiday.

SOUR CREAM CRANBERRY MOLD

2 pkg. cherry gelatin
2 cups boiling water
1 and two-thirds cups cold water
1 can whole cranberry sauce
1 cup sour cream

Mix the two packages gelatin with the two cups boiling water, stirring until completely dissolved. Add the one and two-thirds cups cold water and the can whole cranberry sauce; stir. Chill until thickened, stir in the cup sour cream, stirring well. Chill until firm.

VEGETABLES

A new way to serve squash that is different and delicious.

GLAZED SQUASH

4 cups pared, cubed hubbard squash or banana squash
1-third cup butter, melted
½ teaspoon salt
1½ Tablespoons brown sugar
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg

Combine the four cups squash, third cup melted butter, half teaspoon salt, one and one-half tablespoons brown sugar and eighth teaspoon nutmeg. Turn into a shallow baking dish. Cover with foil and bake in 400-degree oven for 30 minutes. Remove cover, cook 15 minutes longer, or until tender. Serves 6 to 8.

GREEN BEAN AND WATER CHESTNUT CASSEROLE

2 1-lb. cans French cut, Blue Lake green beans
2 5-oz. cans water chestnuts
1 can cream of mushroom soup
¼ cup sherry wine
⅛ teaspoon dry oregano, crumbled
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper

Drain the two cans green beans, drain two cans water chestnuts and slice thinly. Mix together the can mushroom soup, fourth cup sherry wine, eighth tea-

Women's Role in Church

Father John D. Riley of the Community of St. Andrew will be the leader of the Day of Recollection at Holy Angels Catholic Church tomorrow, according to Mrs. George S i g i g i e, publicity chairman for the guild.

Women's Role in the Church will be the topic under consideration during the day-long study session and discussion.

Women of the community are invited to attend the event which will begin at 10 a.m. Bring a bag lunch and coffee, tea and dessert will be furnished by the members of the guild, Mrs. Sigigie said.

Sunday the sixth graders of the parish school will hold their annual money raising event, a pancake breakfast, in the parish hall.

Mrs. Sigigie notes that Ray Leahy and Frank Scarpino will don chef's hats and preside over the griddles and the fry pans as they help the students raise money for a jaunt to Sacramento to see the state government in action.

No reservations are required and breakfast will be served continually from 8 until 11 a.m. Coffee, hot chocolate and sausage will be on the menu with the pancakes. Children under 6 years of age will be admitted for 50 cents. Tickets for all other age groups will be $1., Mrs. Sigigie stated.

Sister Hilary and the members of the sixth grade will be on hand to welcome guests and assist the chefs.

The Champagne will flow, the ladies of Mary's Help Hospital Guild with bustle about and the aura of Christmas to come will fill the solarium of the hospital tomorrow evening as Boutique de Noel, 1971, makes it debute.

The doors will open at 7:30 p.m. with a magnificent display of holiday items and an extravaganza of goodies arranged on the holiday edibles table.

This year the boutique has been under the direction of Mrs. William Corbett, Mrs. Philip Coniglio and Mrs. Louis Costello.

Mrs. Mario Mangini, the publicity chairman, notes that the chairmen and the committeewomen have put in untold hours creating sparkling decorations to grace your home during the holiday season.

The preview is open to the public and the sale will continue in the hospital solarium for two weeks.

Mrs. Mangini calls public attention to the fact that all proceeds are pledged to the cardiac care unit at the hospital.

Mrs. Albert Balistreri, chairman of the Riordan Guild's Mother-Son Communion breakfast, urges all mothers and sons involved with the high school's program to attend the special Mass on Sunday at 8:30 a.m. in Chaminade Hall, 175 Phelan Avenue in San Francisco.

Father James P. McKay of St. Brendan's parish will be the guest speaker.

Mrs. John Ferguson, publicity chairman for the guild, indicates that copies of the Riordan Guild's "Famous Cook Book" are still available for Christmas gifting.

Interested persons may order copies by sending $3.50 per copy to Riordan Guild Cook Book, 175 Phelan Avenue, San Francisco, 94112. (E n c l o s e your name and address with the money!)

The Fifty Plus Club of Pacifica will receive the nominations for officers to serve in 1972 during the meeting scheduled for Tuesday evening, according to Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, president.

According to Mrs. Calhan, following the presentation of the nominating committee recommendations, additional nominations will be accepted from the floor. Elections will be held in December.

Parents and friends were special guests at a recent awards program for Mary's Help Hospital Volunteens.

Nineteen girls received the 100 hour awards, according to Mrs. Betty Schott, of the Paging Pinafores staff.

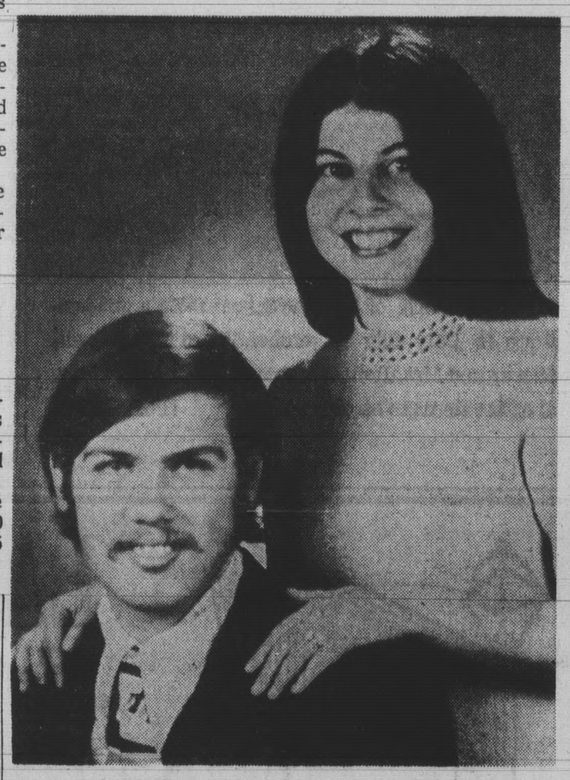
Wedding Plans Disclosed by Peninsulans



DANIEL KANE, MARSHA ZANETTI

(Marcy's Photo)
WILLIAM HENDERSON, LORENE BOTTAI

DEBORAH MOREHOUSE, THOMAS DEGIORGIS

Newly engaged are Lorene Ann Bottai, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bottai of South San Francisco, and William J. Henderson Jr. He is the son of the senior William J. Hendersons of Miami.

The bride-elect was educated at South San Francisco High School. Mrs. Arnold Brooks is her sister and Mrs. Maria Lovi is her grandmother.

William was educated at Miami Carol City Senior High School and Miami Dade Junior College. He is presently serving with the U.S. Navy.

Further wedding plans are incomplete.

Morehouse-DeGiorgis

Planning to be married next month are Deborah Marie Morehouse and Thomas Edward DeGiorgis.

The future bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morehouse of Jenison, Mich., former Foster City residents. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George DeGiorgis of Foster City.

Deborah was graduated from Burlingame High School and Thomas studied at Wilson High School in San Francisco. He is the brother of Barbara DeGiorgis of Foster City and Richard John DeGiorgis of San Gabriel.

Afer the wedding the couple will live in San Bruno.

Zanetti-Kane

St. Charles Church has been reserved for a May 13 wedding by Marsha Ann Zanetti and Daniel Landon Kane who are both alumni of the College of San Mateo.

The future bride is the daughter of Mrs. Oreste Facchini of San Carlos and the late Raymond Zanetti. Lynn Facchini, Brand Zanetti and Mrs. Frank Jiminez are her sisters and brother.

Marsha, who also studied at Mercy High School, is employed as a dental assistant in Mountain View. Mrs. Stella Zanetti and Mr. and Mrs. Gino Venturi, all of South San Francisco, are her grandparents.

Daniel is the son of Dr. John P. Kane of San Francisco and Mrs. Richard Napp of Minnesota. A resident of San Francisco, he also was educated at Westmoor High School and San Jose State. Kevin Kane is his brother.

Marsha has asked Claudia Rossi to be her maid of honor and Mike Strauch will serve as best man.

Westlake Clubs Set Fun Night

The Westlake Catholic Men's and Women's clubs will jointly sponsor an "Evening of Fun," Friday at 7 p.m. at the parish hall.

Frank Lawson may be contacted for reservations.

Camp Fire Girls Planning a Party

Daly City Camp Fire Girls of all ages will be taking their dads to a father-daughter games party November 23, at 7:30 at the Abraham Lincoln school multi-use room.

Blue Birds, Camp Fire Girls, Jr. Hi. Discovery Club and Horizon Club girls will be among the more than 200 fathers and daughters expected.

Pizza will be served by the daughters.

Mrs. Bernal Burrows is in charge of the city wide event and Mrs. William Schoepp is the leaders' a s s o c i a t i o n chairman. This will be the first city-wide Camp Fire Girls event for fathers and daughters in Daly City.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS' father-daughter event gets encouragement from William Schoepp and daughter Crinne and Charles Stuhr and Evelyn.

Susan Gregg Weds Edward Magrini

Susan Jane Gregg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gregg of Daly City and Edward Michael Magrini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Magrini of San Francisco, were married recently at a candlelight ceremony at the Church of Christ in San Mateo.

When Susan said her promises she was wearing a white gown of silk organza over crepe-backed satin e m b r o i dered with French imported Alencon lace and pearls. It was designed and made by her mother. Her maid of honor was Marcia Shelton of Modesto. Bridesmaids included Nancy Moseley of San Bruno and Melinda Callahan of Santa Barbara. Cheryl Brown of Hacienda Heights, California was her cousin's junior bridesmaid.

The attendants wore flowered c h i f f o n dresses with matching baskets of colored carnations.

Rhonda Higdon of San Mateo was flower girl and Paul Nichols of San Bruno carried the rings.

Candles were lit by Joyce Johnson of San Mateo and Christina Schirer, cousin of the bride, of Oxnard.

Best man was Bonnie Chevez, cousin of the bridegroom, from A l b u q u e r q u e, N.M. Guests were seated by Jim Gregg, brother of the bride, Jim Powell and Orlando Lopez.

Susan is a graduate of Westmoor High School, Daly City. Eddie graduated from Lowell High School then attended College of San Mateo. He is now attending University of California in Berkeley.

After a short trip to Northern California the couple is at home in Oakland.

EIGHTH GRADERS at the Holy Angels School in Daly City-Colma will hold annual pancake breakfast, from 8-11 a.m., Sunday, in the parish hall. Ray Leahy, Frank Scarpino and Les O'Callaghan, fathers of eighth graders, will prepare the pancakes, sausages, coffee and hot chocolate. Proceeds from the breakfast will help finance cost of the yearly eighth grade trip to the state capital. Students shown (left to right, seated) Lynn Sheerin, Sue Regan and Gretchen Sharpen; Standing Paul Flemer and Brian Pretti.

DC Couple Wins Family Forum

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Harris of Daly City won the October Pacifica Bridge Club series with two firsts and two seconds.

Ed Lincoln of Burlingame and Mrs. E. G. Thompson of Millbrae had high scores Oct. 25, while the teams of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Schulz and Pat Haggerty-Grace Pearce showed signs of being strong contenders.

New members Rose Golobic of South San Francisco, Ann Dickson, Marge Ross and Rod Neel also have shown strong play.

In the handicap division the Clint Prices, Hannah Diekas-Helen Taylor, and Joyce Kuns-Rose Petty have come in for points toward free games.

An invitational game for new players had a good turnout and should product some gratifying results for Pat Ostovars bridge classes.

The Club has an open game on Friday nights, 7:30 p.m. at the Library on Palmetto and a junior game the last Saturday of each month.

NELL NORTON

spoon crumbled oregano, half teaspoon salt and dash pepper. Toss with beans and chestnuts. Turn into greased baking dish, bake 350-degree oven for 25 minutes. Serves 8.

Sweet potatoes are always an attractive addition to the meal. Especially attractive when served in orange cups.

SWEET POTATO ORANGES

3 large oranges
2 cups mashed sweet potatoes
2 Tablespoons melted butter
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup orange juice
Small marshmallows

Cut the three oranges in half. Carefully squeeze out the juice and cut out pulp, being cautious not to tear the shells. Combine the two cups mashed sweet potatoes with the two tablespoons melted butter, one-half teaspoon salt and one-half cup orange juice. Fill the orange halves with sweet potato mixture. Place a few marshmallows on top.

When ready for dinner place orange halves in muffin tins and bake in 400-degree oven for 15 minutes or until hot.

Crestmoor Plans Drive for Toys

Operation Santa Claus is coming soon as Crestmoor High School students raise money and collect toys for underprivileged children of San Francisco.

Residents may help by taking used or new toys to any San Bruno public or school library by December 5. For further information call Debbie Lloyd (589-6616.)

Thanksgiving A Special Meaning For All Persons

Thanksgiving of 1971 should have a special meaning for all Americans. Our country, as great as it may be, has been going through a difficult period for the past few years. Yet, in this time of many uncertainties, our America is still a land of freedom where opportunities exist that can't be found elsewhere in the world.

Thanksgiving is a time when we should forget about our problems, both personal and as a society; instead, we should count our many blessings and give sincere thanks for the countless advantages we do enjoy. Most of all, be grateful for the fine friendships that bring so much happiness to our lives. And instead of bitter memories of the past, consider what can be accomplished in the future.

TO EACH AND ALL A JOYOUS HOLIDAY.

LLOYD JOHNSON and Staff

CARVING TIME — Chef Claus Iverson of the Cannery's Ben Jonson restaurant, shows serving wenches, Statia Foster (left) and Gale Constidine, how to carve the Thanksgiving Day turkeys which will be individually served and carved at each table at the Ben Jonson on Thanksgiving Day.

Special Attention To Monday Night Parties

Although the Lord Fletcher Inn is closed for regular business on Mondays, General Manager Andy Ardito often opens the handsome Atherton restaurant for private parties. Recently, a prominent San Jose attorney (he's also a good friend of Frank Thatcher, the Inn's owner) held a gala event for over 100 persons. The occasion honored his secretary for her many years as an employee . . . A holiday dinner New England-style will be the main attraction Thanksgiving Day in the Encore Room of the Rodeway Inn, South San Francisco. General Manager Ted Downes will feature a special-priced turkey dinner, served complete with all the trimmings. Children (12 and under) dine for $2.15. Or if you wish, at a slightly higher price you can have a whole roasted turkey carved at your table, taking home the leftovers. For reservations, call pretty Sue King, the new dining room hostess here . . . Whether you are driving your own car or traveling by bus to the Reno and Lake Tahoe areas, Park Avenue Tours can help you save money. Working with the major hotels and motels in these areas, Park Avenue Tours presents travelers with a variety of discounts and bonus package deals.The stay can vary from an eight-hour Turnaround to two nights; refunds change accordingly.

Now! Turkeys Unlimited

Chicken Unlimited has "changed" its name for the next two weeks. The new marquee should read: "Turkeys Unlimited." Owner Ed Chalkagian and his crew are taking orders for fully-cooked Norbest turkeys, which they completely prepare with the exception of the actual carving. This all means less work for the little lady of the house on Thanksgiving morning. To order your turkey call 347-1297 — and do it soon . . . A band called Hard Tymes is still attracting huge crowds to The Putter, Burlingame Plaza. This stint is for a limited engagement only, with the group slated to return to the same site after the first of the year. You will find live music and dancing here every night of the week . . . Head on down to Perry's Smorgy in San Mateo tonight and help yourself to all you can eat for $1.50 from an array of mealtime pleasers. . . . If you're in Palo Alto for a Stanford game or shopping on Saturdays, the beautiful Shirt Tail in Palo Alto is now serving lunches Mondays through Saturdays from 11:30 a.m., it was announced by General Manager Durby Adkins. Luncheon items include Cannelloni Veneziana, Joe's Special (with ground sirloin, mushrooms, spinach and eggs), Old-Fashioned Pot Pie and their outstanding Barbecued Prime Rib Bones.

M. Douglas Favors Expo Fish Grotto Sand Dabs

Movie star Melvyn Douglas was quite a frequent visitor to the Exposition Fish Grotto while shooting scenes in San Francisco. Just before hopping the plane for a return flight to Hollywood the star made one last visit to the Expo for another order of what seemed to be his favorite dish — sand dabs . . . Enrico Romano specializes in pizzas, yes, but he is also an expert hand at preparing special Italian sauces for veal and other meat dishes. As owner and operator of Romano's Italian restaurant in Pacifica's picturesque Rockaway Beach, he is a fine restaurant man, who has done his homework and knows what is best for the public . . . Doros in San Francisco is extremely popular with wine connoisseurs. Doros boss, Don Dianda, stocks the finest and rarest wines from all over the world for his lunchers and diners . . . Mr. and Mrs. Robert Forman celebrated their eighth wedding anniversary at a gala dinner party at Lew Lehr's Steak House, in San Francisco's Marina District. . . .

Relax On Sunday At Nick's Acres

"Nick's Acres" at Pacifica's Rockaway Beach is a great place to spend a relaxing Sunday. Start the morning off with breakfast at Nick's, overlooking the waters of the Pacific. Then take a leisurely drive down Coast Highway One. Return in time for dinner at either The Moonraker or the famous Papagayo Room. Whether you prefer Continental cuisine or spicy Mexican fare, you can't go wrong in either establishment . . . Year in and year out, Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City is a winner. The secret here is repeat business, with thousands of Peninsulans considering themselves to be "regulars" at this award-winning restaurant . . . One of the stunners in the colorful Finocchio revue is chanteuse Laverne Cummings, who comes on like a glamour gal from Hollywood with blonde tresses, beautiful gowns and cleavage that induces envy in the hearts of the femmes at ringside. Laverne has been sought for many Hollywood films and TV shows in the past, and is a standout in a red satin belted gown, with a silver sequinned blouse, singing "Don't Want to Leave You Now."

Bertolucci's Open Thanksgiving

Bertolucci's in South San Francisco will be open for Thanksgiving this year. Nine different entrees will be included on the holiday menu. All dinners will be served complete, including traditional pumpkin pie. Co-owner Larry Bertolucci says the restaurant can seat up to 300 persons, with all three dining rooms being in service. Reservations are being taken for large parties, regardless of the size. . . . Prime rib is considered to be the dinner specialty at Cardoni's Half Moon Bay Inn. Available only on weekends, this tender beef selection is only one of several appetite tempters on the menu. Other selections include a variety of seafood, steaks and popular Italian dishes. Providing the dance sounds in the lounge on weekends is the Inn Beats group. . . . Roy Devincenzi, owner of Redwood City's Golden Steer, hosted a full house of party participants last Tuesday night. Besides the regular lounge and dinner patrons, the restaurant was the gathering place for the Kiwanis and the Lions Club in the banquet rooms. . . . Owners of the Ben Jonson restaurant, located in San Francisco's Cannery, near Fisherman's Wharf, have reason to be proud of this superb dining spot. The Radley Room is available for private parties (make early reservations); relax in the unusual surroundings of the comfortable cocktail lounge, and dine luxuriously on gourmet food.

Eight New Restaurants Open At Tanforan Park

Eight new restaurants with a common seating area for over 500 persons are now open at Tanforan Park Shopping Center in San Bruno. The Tanforan Park Garden restaurants offer an excellent selection of food from around the world. With eight different restaurants, everyone in the family may have a different type meal at a single sitting. Amigo Mike's Mexican delicacies include Chile Relleno, Beef Tostadas topped with guacamole sauce. Steaks Unique features a wide variety of steaks and chicken, including Teriyaki Steak. For an old-fashioned roast beef, turkey, pastrami or corned beef sandwich or complete dinner, Hof's Brau is your answer. Oriental cuisine may be more to your liking. If so King Wong offers egg rolls, chow mein, fried rice, and sweet and sour spareribs. Red Carpet Hot Dogs serves much more than the ordinary. Pizza and brautwurst are on the menu. There is a strong possibility that hamburgers are your cup of tea, and Hamburger Inn has a great one-half pound superburger. For dessert, Swensen's ice Cream can only be topped with whipped cream, nuts and cherries. Sodas, sundaes and splits rank high with kids of all ages. Another irresistible temptation for dessert can be found at Donut World — cream filled eclairs, lemon and berry turnovers or any of the many varieties of donuts top of the family's fun-way to eat. The restaurant complex is located on the lower level of Tanforan Park. All operations are open for lunch and dinner, with Donut World opening early for morning coffee and donuts.

Oreste's Tuscany-Style Food

Oreste's, owned and managed by master chef Joe Piccinini, specializes in Italian food, prepared in the Tuscany manner. Luncheons as well as dinners are served; plus a variety of banquet rooms, with private bar. This famous restaurant, located on Jones Street, has long been one of San Francisco's landmarks for good food . . . Executive Chef Tom Delano is again planning a festive Thanksgiving menu for the Greenwillow dining room. Service will start at 12 noon, with Roast California Tom Turkey being the star attraction, plus all the holiday trimmings. Dinner will be topped off by one of Chef Delano's superb desserts. Children's plates will also be available . . . Ken Parrett and his Red Cottage staff are as busy as any restaurant crew should be. First, the Menlo Park restaurateur is preparing for the crush of fans certain to attend this year's Big Game, which always brings added business to the lower Peninsula. He's also designing a special Holiday menu for Thanksgiving Day (dinner will be served from 4 p.m.). It would seem Parrett has a bustling two weeks (and weekends) to look forward to.

Deejays Live Music And Dancing

You can always find live music and dancing at Deejay's, an elegant nitery on El Camino in Belmont. Two great groups are currently providing a variety of dance sounds seven nights a week. The Sound Barrier is showcased five nights a week, Wednesdays through Sundays. On Monday and Tuesday nights you can dance to the wild sounds of Brotherly Love . . . Frank and Fannie Torres, owners of Torres Beach restaurant in Montara, located on rugged Coast Highway One, are famed throughout the Peninsula and Bay Area for their South American specialties of the house, which they have been serving the public for numerous years . . . Coffee shop service will be from 5 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Thanksgiving Day at Hillsdale Inn, San Mateo. The Inn's London Room will open for dining at 1 p.m. offering a selection of traditional Holiday entrees. All dinners are served complete, including dessert. Early reservations are suggested . . . Phil Lehr and his staff at the Steakery in downtown San Francisco are set for a big turnout of delegates to the American Petroleum Institute Convention which opened Monday. Phil has a full calendar of cocktail parties and dinner meetings on the books for the three-day event.

Westmoor Students Score High in SF State Tests

Three former Westmoor students participated in a San Francisco State test program, known as CLEP (College Level Examination Program) and received very high scores.

They are Rosie Regal, Janet Plant, and Linda Pisetti.

It is a 7½-hour test, given a State College for graduate seniors, who are either a C.S.F. (California Scholarship Federation member or on the honor roll in high school.

The test enables a person to receive 30 units of credit and enter state as a sophomore, thus eliminating the entire freshmen year.

C.L.E.P. contains six categories: art, music, math, humanities, english and social science.

Out of 600 students taking the exam, 300 passed and 115 got all six categories completely correct.

The fee for the test is $15, and it can be taken monthly at most state colleges and universities.

Following in the steps of tradition is Westmoor's group of literary-minded students, organized once again to produce the school's annual magazine, "Ramifications."

Under adviser Miss Lorraine Stoddard, the group recently held its first meeting.

Officers were elected, but production cannot start until material is submitted by the students. All students are invited to present any literary material that they have written, such as poems, quotations, or short stories.

They will be read by members of the "Ramifications" staff, who will decide whether or not to publish them.

Julie Hart heads the staff as president with Sue Schumacher assisting her as vice president. Jhan Tingley was elected secretary.

"Ramifications" is completely student run, with students typing the articles, running them off, designing covers and laying out pages.

The magazine usually sells for 35 cents, which covers the cost of supplies.

Over the years, the club has collected a surplus, and after last year's bill is paid, they expect to have $100 profit.

The Westmoor High School Drama Department recently completed casting for its fall semester production, Charles Gesner's "You're a Oood Man, Charlie Brown."

The play is a musical comedy which is still playing to pacity houses in New York, and was a great success when it opened in San Francisco in March, 1969.

Based on the famous characters created by Charles Schultz, it relates in song, dance, and comedy sketches to a typical day in the life of Charlie Brown.

The six-character cast includes senior Jim Wells as Charlie Brown, Sandra Hansen as Lucy, Carl Kostofelsky as Linus, Michael Nicholson as Snoopy, Sue Jeppson as Patty, and junior Paul Hodgekis as Schroeder.

The play will be produced on January 13, 14, 15, and 20, 21, and 22.

NPL Grid Crown to S.S.F.

By JERRY LITTRELL

Rebounding from a two-year hiatus which saw them entrenched in the purgatory of second-place, the undefeated South San Francisco High School Warriors today reign as North Peninsula League football champion for 1971.

Ray DeJong's lads now have a 2-game lead with one game left after Westmoor's Rams upended title-hopeful Terra Nova, 21-13, on Friday afternoon to end the race a week ahead of schedule. In other NPL action, El Camino managed a second-half rally to down Jefferson, 25-14, while Half Moon Bay blanked winless Serramonte, 30-0.

Warriors 28, Sharks 8

South City's 28-8 win over Oceana, which was the nearest thing to a foregone conclusion, wasn't the Warriors' best effort by far. The sloppy conditions contributed to the so-so action and the mud proved the great equalizer. Oceana's defense had its moments also and putting everything together made it a slithery affair at best.

"We're just grateful for the season we have had so far," said DeJong. "Everyone has worked extremely hard and we've come farther than I had even dreamed we would. This team really deserves the title."

Fullback Tom Crumpton had his night for the Warriors as he ran for 147 yards in just 10 carries scoring twice and coming one yard away from scoring a third TD at the end of a 59-yard run. His was the lone sure-footed effort as the non-draining Clifford Field was a quagmire that lent a comedy air to many of the "tackles."

Tony Bernardini popped right up the middle for 18 yards to open the scoring before end Bob Pershall caught a two-yarder from Rhod Wallace for the second TD. All in all, the Warriors ran up 254 yards of muddy and slick turf while holding the Sharks' ground game to 39.

Oceana quarterback Bernie Kenneally had a rough night as his only completion for plus yardage in the first half was when on of his throws was batted back into his hands by a Warrior defender and the obviously startled junior thrower caught it and ran for three yards.

Rams 21, Tigers 13

For the second straight week Westmoor knocked a second-place hopeful out of contention. This time Terra Nova fell prey to the Rams led by Ken Greene's two touchdown runs of three and one yards. In fact, the only thing Westmoor had trouble with was stopping the long gainers — Terra Nova scored on a 59-yard pass play from John Racannelli to Dave Lutz and an 84-yard run by Steve Garrison.

Thirteen fumbles marred the afternoon, though, despite a perfectly balanced 324-yard combined air-mud attack by the Tigers. End Bob McLennan got the other Westmoor score on a perfectly executed post pattern catch from the 22.

Colts 25, Indians 14

Jefferson held a 14-0 lead in the first half but couldn't stand prosperity as Camino rallied for the victory. Coming out with a surprising running attack the Indians scored when Ernie O'Connor ran in from the 13 and Anthony Aaron scored from the one.

But when Jeff went to its passing attack the roof fell in. Colt cornerback Ken Acosta intercepted three of Chinto Fonseca's passes and set up three touchdowns as the Camino defense held the Indians to just 15 plays and three first downs after intermis-

DISCIPLINARY ACTION — Crestmoor back George Ama (dark jersey) is punished by San Mateo defender Steve Lamp (partially hidden), as Bearcats' Larry Griffin (88) and Dale Curry (35) close in for emphasis. 'Cats held Crestmoor to minus three yards rushing in 28-7 win.

The 'Perfect Plays' Lose For Crests

By CHRIS STAVE

San Mateo High's football team ends daily practices with the unenviable "perfect play" drill — the offense has to run plays against the defense until execution is perfect.

On Friday at Burlingame Field the defense took out after Crestmoor instead, and the offense ran four "perfect plays" of its own for a 28-7 upset win over the Falcons and a share of first place.

While San Mateo's defense was holding the previously high-powered Falcons to minus three yards rushing and 94 yards total offense, Bearcat back Larry Croon was ripping off long gainers like he could hardly wait to get off the field and into the showers.

The Bearcats took the opening kickoff 60 yards in nine plays to score; Croon carried four times for 26 yards and quarterback Jack Lindsey did the rest with two passes and a seven yard keeper for the TD.

It wasn't long after the ensuing kickoff that the Falcons discovered they weren't going anywhere fast with their running game. Eventually, they went to the pass, and fared little better.

The San Mateo defensive line applied vicious pressure to Falcon quarterback Jim Jarvis all night long; when he did fire off a pass, a Bearcat defender was usually in position to bat it away.

The Falcons' only score came on a 41-yard interception return by Al Himura that tied the score 7-7 in the second quarter. Moments later, he intercepted another and took it to the San Mateo 16, but the Bearcats foiled four straight Jarvis passing attempts to kill the threat.

San Mateo dominated thereafter. When the 'Cats' own passing game faltered, quarterbacks Lindsey and Bill Smith gave the ball to Croon, who knew exactly what to do with it.

He tore for a 58-yard score on a right end sweep in the second quarter to give San Mateo a 14-7 halftime lead. Then, in the third period, he broke a tackle over the middle and raced 56 yards for another. It broke the Falcons' back.

Croon rushed 26 times (as much as the entire Crestmoor team), and gained 208 yards on the night.

Jarvis tried to bring Crestmoor back through the air, but got nothing more than grass stains on his helmet to show for it. He was thrown six times for 47 yards in losses, and completed just eight of 24.

'Cat back Keith Nakada accounted for a little icing with a nine-yard scoring sweep in the final stanza, climaxing a 12-play, 60-yard drive.

"I'm ecstatic," said Bearcat coach Buz Williams after the game. "We had planned to control the ball, because we knew they had a good offense.

San Bruno Mountain Hill Run Saturday

The Daly City Department of Recreation Parks and Maintenance is conducting its Sixth Annual Daly City Hill Run on Saturday.

Runners will start and end the race in front of Colma Intermediate School on East Market Street.

The course is 6.7 miles long and is open to all A.A.U. registered long distance runners.

The race will start promptly at 10 a.m., with post registration beginning at 8 a.m. Registration forms are available at the Daly City Recreation, Parks and Maintenance office located at 134 Hillside Boulevard, or can be picked up the morning of the race at the registration tables.

All contestants will be required to pay a $1 entry fee and a $1 registration fee if they are not already registered with the A.A.U.

Trophy and Medal awards will be given in five separate divisions.

'Lucky Six' Remains in League Lead

The Lucky Six remains the only undeeated team in the division after a decisive victory over the Pedroni AC team by a final score of 40-26 in the six-foot and under play.

Norman Jong with 21 and "hustling" Joe Skaar led the Lucky Six attack. Randy Johnson scored 10 and Bruce Davidson put through 10 for Pedroni's AC Club.

The S.B. Cavaliers won their first game of the season over the Buzzards by a score of 41-21. C. Johnson with 23 was high point man for the Cavaliers in their first win. Manny Garcia scored 13 for the Buzzards and Frank Clifford scored 12 for the Cavaliers to be the top scorers of the evening.

THROUGH FIRE AND RAIN—A little more than an hour after a brushfire had burned over part of the Hallmark Homes cross-country course, Hillsdale's Don Pemberton (white) and Crestmoor's Bill Hastings battled alone through drizzles for the lead in the Mid-Peninsula League finals. Pemberton won; San Mateo took team championship.

S.M. Wins MPL Cross Country

By STEVE JOHNSON

If the ideal in cross-country is to get closer to the elements, the runners in Thursday's Mid-Peninsula League finals succeeded beyond their wildest dreams.

In what other sport could an athlete spend the first part of the afternoon watching his coach battle a brush fire, and finish by running three miles through intermittent rain?

Two hundred fifty-odd high school athletes did at the Hallmark Homes course in Belmont; people gathering for the meet helped stomp out a small conflagration an hour before the festivities, then San Mateo went out and won three out of a possible four championships.

Top individual runner of the day was Hillsdale senior Don Pemberton, who carried on a spirited varsity duel with Crestmoor's sophomore suprise Bill Hastings much of the way before pulling out a five-second margin on the last leg to win in 16:01.

Hastings jumped out to an early lead on a very fast first mile; Hastings and Pemberton then battled back and forth throughout the second. Then Pemberton broke away at the beginning of the third.

Depite Pemberton's victory, San Mateo locked up the varsity title (as well as the junior varsity and frosh-soph). The Bearcats had gone undefeated in dual meets; the worst they could have suffered was a tie. But they placed well enough in the top 10 to cop their second MPL crown in a row.

Top Bearcat runner Mark Greenough, one of the favorites in the race off his top performances this year, finished ninth. "He didn't run well," said his coach, Don Dooley. "Maybe he wanted to do too well." It may have been that the fast pace in the first mile put Greenough in the back of the pack; he never recovered.

Two runners who finished better than expected were Bearcats Bill Lindsell (third) and Brad Dauer (sixth). "Lindsell just did a tremendous job; both were terribly determined and ran well," Dooley said. "Their performances were a big part of our win."

The other runners in the top five were Dave Evans of Mills and freshman Rob Barnett of Hillsdale.

San Mateo took the JV title and the first two places of the race, as John Love and Doug Graff controlled the race for the entire distance.

The Bearcats had a closer call in the frosh-soph division, finishing with a team time only 16 second better than Capuchino. Both teams had gone 5-1 during the dual meet season.

San Mateo's John Anderson won with a 17:11 clocking; Cap's top runner was Gary Oliver, who came in third (17:30).

Mills, the dominant freshman team in the MPL for the last two years, cleaned up Thursday. The Vikes had won 14 straight MPL dual meets; the defending champs didn't slow down on that day.

NPL Wins Two In Cage Playoff

By DAN BERTELLOTTI

North Peninsula League teams edged both Mid-Peninsula League representatives in the lightweight basketball playoffs on the Skyline College floor Saturday night.

In the C Division Westmoor beat Burlingame, 44-37, and in the Ds Serramonte squeaked past Mills in the last minute, 42-41.

Burlingame took a quick lead in the C game, pulling out a 12-11 first quarter lead, but Westmoor, mixing a sticky defense with an effective fast break, came back to lead by six at the half.

In the second half Westmoor twice led by as much as 10; Burlingame was severely hampered when center Mark Makenhausen fouled out. In the fourth quarter Burlingame's Steve Merchant, who tallied 28 of his team's points in the tough going, drew the Panthers to within one, 35-34.

But Westmoor then went on a scoring spree. Pete Clemens hit a bomb and the Rams picked up two more after Panther turnovers to put Westmoor comfortably on top, 41-34.

Serramonte took a quick lead over a tight Mills team in the D game, going up 6-0 to start and 13-6 at the quarter. The Regents' tough defense and height advantage forced Mills into foul trouble. But Vike Steve Vasquez kept Mills in the game, rebounding, breaking the press and scoring two buckets to stay close.

Mills got a fast break going in the second period and went ahead on a 25-footer by Don Patton; Serramonte tied it 19-all at the half. In the third quarter Serramonte again used its height advantage and once again Mills was in foul trouble, but trailed by only four going into the final stanza.

In the fourth quarter, Regent forward Eric Johnson was the man that hurt the Vikings as he hit four layups. A Johnson hoop made it 38-33, but Bob Battazedo banked in a steal to cut the lead to three. Jeff Dinner then drew a foul on big Rich Counts and canned two tosses to cut it to only one.

Vasquez then stole the ball on the inbounds play and made it 39-38, Mills. Serramonte didn't panic as Jonson hit another layup to put the Regents back on top.

Dave Reed hit a bomb for Mills to put them back in the lead. But Johnson hit yet another basket and then Mills threw the ball away and the Regents had the victory.

FT. ORD — Army Private David C. Noce, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Noce, 1527 Valdez Way, Pacifica, is assigned to Ft. Ord, where he is training under the modern volunteer Army field experiment.

The new concept, called Volar, combines basic and advanced individual training into a single 16-week program. Decentralized instruction at the unit level and a reduction of formations and inspections gives the soldier more time to train and increased off-duty time. Fewer restrictions on off-duty travel and improved living facilities are other benefits of the Volar concept.

Eguado Mixco scored both the touchdowns for Colma, his last came with only 3 plays left in the game on a 70-yard punt return.

D.C. Judo Tourney Attracts 80

Through the coordinated efforts of John Cannon, of the Daly City Recreation Department, and Ben Palacio, of the Northern California Judo Black Belt Association, the Third Western A.A.U. Judo Championships was held at the Daly City Recreation Center on November 6.

Mits Kimura and Mas Tamura, both Schichidan (black Belts) were present when Ed Tomasello, general supervisor of Recreation and himself a judo man, gave the welcome address.

Eighty contestants from the Western States, Hawaii and Alaska competed for trophies in six A.A.U. Weight Divisions.

Daly City's own Mitchell Palacio, 16-year-old Shodan (first degree black belt) from Riordan High School in San Francisco, placed first in the 176-pound division.

Mitchell beat Luis Gonzales of San Jose State College. Gonzales is a Nidan (second degree black belt) and a two-time National Collegiate Judo Champion. He also beat Mac Takeda, another Nidan from Fresno, with an Ippon (full point.

Mitchell met and defeated eight different opponents in capturing first place. All matches in the tournament were conducted on three 2x2-foot canvas covered ensolite mats. The matches were of five minutes duration with no provisions for overtime.

EOC Chairman's Post Remains Unfilled

A controversial election of a chairman that has occupied much of the county Economic Opportunity Commission's time for the past three months was postponed last week, but the works may be over.

The commission voted to elect new officers for the current except that three new members year at its January meeting. It would have done so last night joined the 15-member commission and it was felt they should have time to evaluate any candidates.

In the meantime, last year's officers, headed by Chairman Gerald L. Monroe of East Palo Alto will continue at their posts.

Monroe took over from Antonio Montoya, a South San Francisco civil engineer, in September when the district attorney's office ruled that Montoya's reappointment by the county Board of Supervisors was illegal. Montoya, representing the Mexican-American Unity Council, had served three consecutive one-year terms and under commission by-laws had to step down, the ruling said.

A walkout by Montoya supporters ensued at the September meeting, followed in October by Montoya's request to extend his membership until he could check the legality of his involuntary expiration of term.

Montoya didn't attend the meeting last week.

The commission also voted that night to seek a special meeting with the county Housing Authority and the various neighborhood development programs in the county to discuss what can be done to provide low-income family homes in houses now being boarded up.

Commissioner Frank Ganino of San Mateo brought up the matter, noting that he had seen many houses in East Palo Alto being boarded recently.

Bishop George Gillis of East Palo Alto(a new member seated last night, said there were 28 or 39 such homes now standing vacant.

Several reasons were advanced for the non-usage of these structures, most centering around rents too high for low incomes and inability to keep up payments because of work layoffs.

The commission voted also to ask the Board of Supervisors to appoint a low-income person to a housing authority board vacancy created last week with the resignation of Perry A. Bygdnes.

DEATHS

Dies at 73 L. Martini

The body of Louis Martini, 73, who figured in an illicit liquor still operation in the early thirties, is being held by the San Mateo County coroner's office, while attempts are being made to locate any living relative.

Martini, who had lived for the past several years in a South San Francisco hotel, operated a restaurant in South San Francisco. He was found dead Sunday in the hotel's parking lot. He had had a long history of heart trouble.

In 1935, Martini along with 56 other persons was indicted in Los Angeles as an operator of a chain of illicit stills from San Diego to Yreka.

After pleading guilty he was sentenced to McNeil Island for income tax evasion. While at the prison he was trained to be a cook.

Upon his release, Martini opened a restaurant in South San Francisco.

In 1933 Martini and four other men were found guilty of tax evasion on similar charges for a string of stills he operated in the Bay Area. At that time he was placed on probation.

Dismay Told On Water Rules

By FRANK LAPIERRE

North County county council-Thursday expressed dismay over the regional Water Quality Control Board's latst orr concerning discharging of treated sewege into San Francisco Bay.

Several cities threatened to take the matter into court.

Burlingame Councilman R. David Martin said his city "has gone every way we can" to comply with the Board's regulations over the years "and we still are under a cease and desist order."

The city is one of the few in the Bay Area that has a plant in operation that gives tertiary treatment to its sewage before discharging it into the bay's shallow water.

Such treatment met the WQCB's standards until recently when regulations were amended to prohibit all discharging of treated sewage into the bay's shallow waters.

From now on all discharge must be into the bay's deep water channels. The new ruling must be carried out by 1976.

Martin said there was "simply no way to comply" with the latest ruling. He recalled the rules "too stringent."

"Each time we meet the standards they change their rules and make them even tougher. Everybody's for pure water, but let's not get ridiculous about it," Martin said.

It was pointed out during talks on the subject by the membership of the North County Council of Cities attending the meeting that the new rules would prohibit water from a home faucet being discharged into shallow bay waters.

Millbrae Councilman Bernard Esser voiced the feelings of several other officials whose cities front the bay when he suggested the matter be taken to court.

"The time has come to take this issue to court," Esser said.

Martin accused the WQCB of continually changing their standards and not listening to local governments on local problems.

"All we ever hear is what they do against local government," he said.

In other action, the NCCC set up a three-man committee to investigate the much-criticized airport taxi service.

Composed of councilmen Louis J. Papan (Daly City), Tony Governale (San Bruno) and William Glang (Millbrae) the committee will investigate the overall operation of taxi services at International Airport, including Yellow Cab Company's contract with the airport.

A resolution introduced by Councilman Governale concerning taxi operations at the airport was defeated by a 5-2 margin after considerable discussion.

Some cities felt any restrictions placed on airport taxis might conflict with local authority on operation of taxicabs within Peninsula cities.

There was also concern voiced over the operation of "illegal pirate cabs" operating at the airport.

These vehicles are reputed to overcharge customers after "pirating" them away from franchised cab stand operators.

It was also suggested a cab stand be set up for use by those taxis willing to operate in the county.

BE PATIENT

Trying to force your way into a line of traffic, warns the National Automobile Club, can land you in a crippling or fatal accident. Be patient, wait your turn, and stay safe.

San Brunan Is Injured

An elderly San Bruno woman suffered a broken hip when she was struck by a car while crossing El Camino Real near Crystal Springs Road about 2:30 a.m. Saturday.

Mrs. Ann Wood Edmonds, 69, was admitted to Peninsula Hospital following the accident. Driver of the car was identified by police as Clarence B. Johnson, 67, of 871 Masson Avenue, San Bruno.

$100 Bruno Robbery

A clean-shaven, well-dressed man robbed the owner of a San Bruno grocery store Thursday of an undetermined amount of cash police said was in excess of $100.

According to police, Eugene P. Borelli, owner and operator of Grand Leader Market, 598 San Mateo Avenue, was waiting on a customer while preparing to close at his normal 10 p.m. hour.

Police said while he was waiting on a woman a man walked in. The woman left and the man, described as about 35, standing 5-foot-6, weighing 145 pounds and wearing sports clothes, pulled a revolver from the wasteband of his trousers.

The man told Borelli to open the cash register and take out all the money it contained. Police said the suspect was last seen running north on San Mateo Avenue.

Pacifica to Join County Waste Plan

Pacifica officials last week approved the deposit of $2500 with the county, making that city a participant in the countywide plan for waste water management.

The move was based on the possibility that new revisions of standards for treatment of ocean discharges will be required at the new Sharp Park plant, and so as not to jeopardize receiving state and federal grants for the project.

City manager Jim Swayne said the city should anticipate filing a grant application for secondary treatment within 10 months.

Swayne also recommended Pacifica's percentage participation be recalculated on the basis of present design flow.

He said this was to determine whether the amount Pacifica is contributing is based properly, and not being based on the design flow projected for the new treatment plant.

Politicians and Women

TRYNG TO FIGURE out what a politician is going to do in an upcoming campaign is like trying to figure out what a woman is going to do next.

Both are allowed the option of changing their minds (or at least their words) at the very last minute. This situation is made more maddening for an aspiring political pundit, such as myself, when the politician happens to be a woman.

In this case, supervisor (Mrs.) Jean Fassler, a member of the Democratic party. Rumors contend Mrs. Fassler is definitely going to toss her bonnet into the ring for Assemblyman Leo Ryan's post if, and when, that legislator jumps into the newly-created Congressional district battle. (Actually, unless Congressman Pete McCloskey decides to slip into Ryan's area and run, there won't be any fight to speak of. Even if McCloskey does carpetbag-it into the North County, oddsmakers favor Ryan.

MEANWHILE BACK WITH Supervisor Fassler: The lady politician disclaims she is positively running for anything, other than her supervisorial seat in April. She said the Assembly "is not a seat I aspire to" and added, "I like what I am doing (as a supervisor) and where I am."

On the other hand Supervisor Fassler reserved the right "as a politician" to change her mind. And there you are friends. Just when you think you've got a scoop they break the handle off.

SUPERVISOR ROBERT ST. CLAIR is furious over the boundary lines drawn on Ryan's assembly district. He's so mad, in fact, that there are strong indications he may pull a few politicial tricks of his own out of the hat. What kind of tricks you may well ask? How about this: St. Clair decides to file for the state Senate district (No. 10), which runs from Marin County through the Sunset of San Francisco, Brisbane, International Airport, through his house and into the Ocean.

Certainly St. Clair is better known in many of those districts than Milton Marks or Peter Behr. Before you all laugh, think about it! St. Clair does not want to run for the Congress and he's still thinking about the Asesmbly — but not very hard. Asked if he had moved into Ryan's district, St. Clair refused to answer on the grounds "the Legislature might hear it and change the lines again."

Like everyone else around these parts, St. Clair isn't particularly happy with the way Sacramento chopped up the county. "They're saving the district for their buddies and to hell with the people," he said.

WATCH FOR JOHN SWANSON, owner of the Westlake Bowl to open a new restaurant, "Heritage House," at the center soon. The alley king also tells us the new kiddies' nursery at his Westlake Bowl is working out "real well."

LET US KNOWN if you've been approached with a "deal" on frozen foods and a freezer recently and we'll be only too glad to pass it on to some very interested folks up at City Hall.

SOUNDED LIKE a regular Assembly debate between San Bruno Councilman Tony Governale and Daly City Councilman Louis J. Papan at that North County Council of Cities meeting the other p.m. It was over cab service at International Airport. On that subject: We must agree with Brisbane's Julius Stern and Papan who both think the matter should be settled first by trying to contact the Airport authorities. Failing that, they should next go to the State for help in straightening out that taxi mess.

CHARLOTTE SCHULTZ, Senator Arlen Gregorio's county rep, did a bang up job representing her boss at the NCCC meeting. She brought the councilmen up to date on legislative happenings Gregorio is working on. Nice work.

NOW THEN — The subject of Senator Gregorio again. He was scheduled to discuss topical subjects along with Assemblyman Dixon Arnett at a San Carlos P-TA meeting the other day but failed to make the scene. That he didn't show is not unusual for a busy legislator. What is unusual (and in our estimation unforgivable, if true) is that he failed to inform the waiting crowd he wasn't going to make it. No explanation, no apologies. Not good, Senator. We found out long ago that women have mighty long memories.

AND SPEAKING OF MEMORIES — We want to say to that San Bruno councilwoman who kept digging us at that NCCC meeting: "Sticks and stones may break our bones but names will never hurt us." If she insists on acting like one we may just present a few more childish proverbs such as the aforementioned.

THAT "SPECIAL ASSIGNMENT" we pursued last week will soon be in The Post. And, like many other subjects you read FIRST in this newspaper, will be recycled in other papers in one form or another. Here's a clue to the story: Brisbane-San Bruno Mountain-LAFCO-et al.

ADD TO POLITICAL SCENE — John Sherman, replete with beard, is talking like he may throw his hat into the Assembly or even the Congressional ring. You all remember Sherman: He's the city attorney of Pacifica who was chewed to pieces by Leo Ryan in that Assembly race two years ago. We admit he did break a lot of North County hearts by besting Frank Spadarella in the GOP primary. At any rate, Sherman is right now doing what he likes to do best — talk. Trouble is, we can't find too many Republians who are listening.

The Post gives its columnists a great deal of latitude, offering its readers the benefit of knowledgeable, varying opinion. Their opinions are not necessarily those of The Post which addresses itself to its readers only through clearly marked editorials.

Wonderland or Barren Hunk?

By FRANK LaPIERRE

(First of Two Articles)

San Bruno Mountain is reputedly the largest piece of real estate left undeveloped in the center of urban sprawl in the nation.

Depending on a person's outlook, the mountain could be either (a) a wonderland of wildlife and flowers and should be preserved in its present state at all cost, or (b) a barren windswept hunk of ground that is topped with blinking television tower lights and not much more.

Somewhere in between would probably be the more realistic description of the 3,600 acres that comprise "Rancho Canada de Guadalupe La Visitacion y Rodeo Viejo." Otherwise known as "Visitacion Rancho."

But conservationists, while winning major concessions in their fight to leave the mountain unscathed by man, will likely lose their "war" in the long run.

Those who vowed to fight to the bitter end to prevent all development on the 1,314 foot high landmark have made their point. They have made developers aware of their desires and these desires are being carefully studied, according to Project Director Frank Calton. Many are being carried out, he said.

Some 2,132 acres of the total lands will be open space.

Total acreage designated for public use, open space and parks is twice the size of Golden Gate Park.

Additionally the developers, led by M. Sherman Eubanks and Calton, will undertake a tree planting program on the mountain's slopes. Studies indicate groves of trees divert winds and increase ground temperatures.

Someday within the next 15 to 25 years, if Crocker's plans are realized, an estimated 27,000 persons will live in a wonderland of bike paths, horse trails, special transportation and traffic routes, and all those modern conveniences man enjoys.

Throughout all this development, in the so-called "saddle area" and six spots along the south ridge owned by Westbay Associates), the ridgeline of the mountain will not be touched.

Any change in the characteristic profile of the mountain will be bitterly opposed, South San Francisco and Brisbane residents have vowed.

Brisbane fears lopping off the ridgeline will allow fog to creep over the mountain and dramatically change the climate in that small mountainside town.

Extensive "microclimate" studies by Crocker has proved residents' fears of weather change in Brisbane are justified. If the ridgeline is cut the fog will roll in.

Crocker put in writing their intention of leaving the ridgeline undisturbed.

"The characteristic profile of San Bruno Mountain should be left undisturbed," the developer said.

Several years ago, Westbay Associates studied the possi-

Grading will be necessary in those areas where building will be done. But even this will be minimal, developers claim.

San Bruno Mountain has been described as "Of irregular shape and varied topography."

It is, in fact, pocked with deep ravines and craggy outdroppings. There are also gently rolling valleys suitable for housing, school and commercial development.

Accoring to figures released by Crocker Land Company some 50 per cent of Visitacion Rancho lands consist of extremely steep slopes.

And while it is feasible from an engineering standpoint to build on these slopes, Crocker has decided to leave them undeveloped.

The makeup of the mountain requires development be in clusters.

bility of quarrying fill material from a southeast section of the mountain, transporting this fill via conveyor belt over the Bayshore freeway to waiting barges where it would be hauled to a proposed development near Redwood City.

This plan has long been abandoned and Westbay has agreed to cooperate with Crocker in the current planned development of the mountain.

In exchange for their cooperation, Westbay will receive some "income property" constructed on five lots on its 600 acres located along the south ridge. It is anticipated that multi-story commercial-residential structures will be constructed on these spots.

Bowing to demands of many conservationists, Crocker now considers open space within the development of utmost importance.

"Cluster housing, multi-family and multi-level residential structures are the optimum physical solutions that can gain advantage from the property's irregular topography," Crocker spokesmen point out.

The three mile long mountain has sat quietly by, relatively unused, as civilization has trampled everything around it. it produces no revenues and has become a dumping ground for litterbugs and a test area for motorcycles.

The owners now pay some $600 in property taxes every day. This does not include those areas already developed such as the 290 acre industrial park, and a quarry currently being operated by the Pacific Cement and Aggregates Company adjacent to Brisbane.

'We Should Have Listened'

Victor Bakayev, former Soviet Minister of Merchant Marine often boasted that Russia would be the number one maritime power by 1980. We should have listened.

The present ranking in shipping tonnage runs like this: Liberia, Japan, Britain, Norway, Greece, USA, USSR. Projected deliveries make it apparent that within the next two years Russia will pass the U.S. in both numbers of active ships and tonnage.

Like the news about the Soviet Navy, their merchant marine development is a success story — for them. Their growth and expansion must be recognized as spectacular.

In 1950, the USSR had 432 merchant ships aggregating 1.9 million tons. Of these vessels, 51 had been loaned to Russia under Lend Lease. On January 1 of this year she possessed 1,942 ships of over 14 million tons.

By comparison, we have wallowed. Our privately owned active fleet in 1950 was composed of 1,100 ships of 13.5 million tons, and today numbers 754 ships of 14.1 million tons.

The Soviet surge can also be illustrated by considering the 1968 figures which showed the U.S. as having 51 ships on order as compared to 456 ships for the USSR.

But numbers and tons alone don't tell the story. Quality is also telling. Eighty per cent of the Soviet fleet is less than ten years old, and 80 per cent of the U.S. fleet is older than 20 years.

Even more importantly, the nature of Russian and American strength should be considered. Russia is a land power, now going to sea. Most resources needed to support her economy are located within her own boundaries. Her fundamental military strength is indigenous to the Eurasian land mass.

The U.S., on the other hand, is a sea power whose strength is drying up. We depend upon an elaborate system of alliances that can only be supported by sea. More than 90 per cent of our import and export tonnage is carried by sea transportation, and of the 71 strategic materials needed for national defense, we must import all or part of 68.

But, some say, the U.S. controls many ships that operate under foreign flags, and these shou'd be considered in assessing our strength. True enough, as of the end of last year, American firms owned 467 ships that operated under flags of convenience. But "control" is something e'se again.

Forty per cent of such vessels are registered with traditional maritime nations. Our "control" of these rests upon the expectation that such nations will cooperate with us in the event of an emergency. This sense of assurance seems reasonable enough if one presupposes fairly normal international conditions. History tells us, however, that there were similar expectations concerning the French fleet in 1939.

The other 60 per cent of such ships, however, present even more serious problems. One-hundred-eighty ships fly the Liberian flag, and 91 the Panamanian flag. These vessels are tied to America by a very thin umbilical cord indeed. Each of them is bound to us by a piece of paper and a single man.

These ships are covered by letters of agreement under which the owners agree to turn the ships over to the U.S. in the event of an emergency. To "guarantee" delivery the owner maintains a representative who is usually the master or chief engineer aboard each vessel. This man, supposedly, will guide the ship to a proper port at the moment of urgency. One pictures 271 Humphrey Bogarts doing the "right thing" under circumstances of maximum stress.

To sense the stickiness of the problem, consider an ugly surprise experienced by the Military Sealift Command during the Vietnam War. The American owners of a ship staffed with a Mexican crew agreed to charter a vessel to the Command, but the crew refused to participate. No crew, no ship.

The reality of American maritime strength seems tied to doing business as usual at a time that other considerations may become more important. The Soviet Union is moving toward maritime supremacy that traditionally belongs to the west.

Her motives include strategic considerations, and she certainly is increasing her naval power by expansion of her government owned fleet. She also conserves foreign exchange by using her own ships to carry her expanding trade. Finally, as instruments of prestige and political influence Russia uses her fleet of merchant ships to extend her presence in the world.

Last year legislation was adopted which seems to assure expansion of our merchant marine by 300 ships in ten years time. This, however, should be considered as a start only.

More is involved than the interests of ship owners, ship operators, labor and men of government. The average American citizen has an imposing interest in the revitalization of our maritime strength. He should be beginning to understand that his future, in fact, his very life could depend upon it.

The Book Shelf

By Samuel Chandler

"Mark In Time" is a picture of San Francisco in poetry and portraits.

With words that flow from deep emotions, the pets paint a picture of social ferment within the intellectual life of the City.

". . . O God I did not see this sneak preview of things to come lost in the garden of remembrance when the young walked without gravity where guards were stripped of their armory.

I saw the fairy tale stare painted in the dolls eyes of the wierd man, flashing blue, flashing blue,
wierd eels swimming through the aether and grey lads from Beatle movies, this street is an aquarium with all types of fishes swimming 'round. . . ."

—Charles Plymell.

IN THE WORKS OF some of the poets there seems to be a note of bewilderment before a culture of glaring television, grey street corners and sparks of cigarettes gleaming in the grass.

". . . we who are nothing to the incarnate computers save factors on a graph
we who are nothing
rescued by love
we cannot fathom
walk jaded neon jewelry

twinkling
twinkling
so delicate to the touch to fall down in a blaze of trumpets in a blossom of fire we are from a place far off."

—David Henderson

'Mark in Time' Emotional

MANY OF THE POETS whose work are included in "Mark In Time" give truth to Karl Shapiro's statement that "Almost to a man, American artists are in full-fledged opposition to the American Way of Life—that is, life according to Business, Politics, Journalism, Advertising, Religion, Patriotism and morality."

They protest against a culture geared to computers and priorities:

"On pure sudden days like innocense
we behold the saints and their priorities key punched in the air."

—Richard Brautigan

And measured by the machines that are produced:

"We have made hawks
that fly
where no hawks have flown.

We have made hard sky and look out at the rain.

We have made warm hides
From no animal yet slain.

We have made horses that stride
as no horses ever known.

But, we are weak.
On our wounded plains, we are alone.

We have forgotten
the shape and cry of our bellies.

We have forgotten
the dances of our own faces, the songs of our own voices.

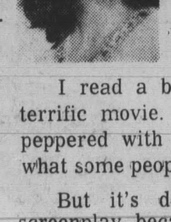
We have forgotten
the chants of the soul
in our running feet.

Now, we remember.
In our weeping tents, we are alone.

—Gene Fowler.

THE POETS represented in "Mark In Time" do not follow the schoolroom definitions of poetry and rules of producing it. They do not write poems that fit Shelley's defination that "poetry is the record of the best and happiest moments of the best and happiest minds." Nevertheless they write the thoughts of many San Franciscans. They write with an emotional reaction that many readers will recognize as akin to their own.



THE MARQUEE

By Barbara Bladen

I read a book last week that might have made a terrific movie. It is full of adventure and suspense, is peppered with show business names and a glimpse of what some people call "the good life."

But it's doubtful that its author will write the screenplay because he's given up on other people's standards, a palatial home in Beverly Hills, fancy parties, the sophisticated milieu of Hollywood and television studios for what he and his admirable wife Teddy call "the good life." This is their story.

"New Lease on Life" (Random House, $5.95) is the story of how Otis Carney and his family quit the rat race and moved to a ranch in Wyoming to raise yearlings. It traces the growth of three sons, their adjustment to being isolated (the ranch is a 200-mile drive out of Salt Lake City where in the winter they have to ski down to the snow plough and mailbox), re-evaluating their status as human beings and learning to survive, not just taking what their father's high salaried job provided in the way of glamour and advantages.

But this isn't just a simple "runaway to the country" book. It's full of wonderment at rediscovering nature, at the emotional and psychological struggle involved in making the final decision (they shuttled back and forth from mansion to wilderness half a dozen times before making it permanent), and the practical problem of economics.

Their friends thought them crazy: First when they moved from Chicago where he had an ad agency position to California where he wrote for films and television and then to Wyoming.

Looking back over their lives and all they've done, you'd think they were in their sixties but in person Teddy has that Foxcroft alumna bearing that appears more opera guild volunteer than pioneer slaving over a hot wood stove. And Otis looks properly Madison Avenue although you know different from his natural rooting to the outdoor life. They are youthful and vital in the liberated outlook.

Ticket Sale Complaints Cause Row

Complaints about a ticket sale for a circus in January are still coming in and apparently are continuing a flap between the San Mateo County Fire Chiefs Association and the two-year-old county Firemen's Co-ordinating Council.

The chiefs, with "extreme displeasure," claim the council-sponsored circus is being promoted as a department-sanctioned event when it isn't and that high-pressure salesmanship is bringing feedback to the departments from the public.

They say also that the council isn't telling the truth about the proceeds from the circus. The council says all but 10 per cent will go to a heart clinic at Chope General Hospital in San Mateo, but the chiefs allege that the money will be split evenly between the clinic and the council's own use.

Belmont Fire Protection District Chief Richard Weare, chiefs association secretary-treasurer, pointed out that the "extreme displeasure" is aimed at the council also for not informing the chiefs about exactly what it was doing and for "false advertising" on the phone, claiming to represent fire departments when actually they represented the council.

The chiefs will have nothing to do with the circus, Weare said.

This complaint was similar to one a month ago from San Mateo Fire Chief George Cocconi, who said he was getting complaints then about ticket sales tactics.

Coroner Aide Charged With Stealing

Arraignment was scheduled on Monday for John Devlin, 51, deputy coroner charged with theft of personal items of a deceased person.

Devlin was arrested last Thursday at the coroner's office in the County Public Health building, 225 W. 37th Ave., San Mateo, by South San Francisco police.

Authorities acted on a misdemeanor warrant issued by Municipal Court Judge Charles Becker. The complaint originated from the South San Francisco police department.

According to the warrant, Devlin was charged with stealing from an individual, Louie Martini, a 73-year-old South San Francisco resident who was a coroner's case on November 7.

Devlin was released on his own recognizance, pending his appearance at court this morning.

The coroner's office today said Devlin, of 1051 Hewitt Dr., San Carlos, has been suspended, pending the court arraignment.

According to that office, the items missing were a cowboy-type belt and a string tie that were "inadvertently placed in Devlin's pocket and forgotten." The value is unknown.

Devlin has been with the coroner's office two months, replacing a regular department employe who had broke his leg, said the report from the coroner's office.

Doll Offer For Needy S.S.F. Girls

One woman has offered a doll for each girl in the families to be helped by South San Francisco Avalon Concerned Taxpayers' third annual Christmas needy family drive.

Mrs. Lois Barnes, president of ACT, said other offers have included food, gifts and Christmas trees.

Ste said the group still needs blue chip stamps, canned goods, toys and clothing.

"If items cannot be dropped at the homes of Mrs. Antoinette Fraschieri, 378 Avalon Drive, Mrs. Celina Caravantes, 425 Valverde Drive, or with myself at 418 Valverde Drive, please contact tne of us for pickup service," said Mrs. Barnes.

Letters went out in October to all churches in that city seeking names from those churches of any needy families, for an early determination of the number and ages of children to be

BUILDING DEDICATED — Dedication ceremonies were held in Daly City this week at the new two-story 15,136 square foot building housing the Department of Motor Vehicles, 1500 Sullivan Avenue. A test track and off-street parking on a 91,000 square foot lot are part of facility. Inspecting new facility following dedication attended by civic and business leaders were (left to right) Ronald V. Thunen (DMV div. chief), Anthony Giamonna, D. C. Councilman, Bernard J. Lycett, D. C. Mayor, and James Sargen, president of the Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce. (Post Photo)

Future Population Density a Problem

San Bruno city planners Monday night tried in at least three different ways to cut down San Bruno's future population density.

They approved unanimously an amendment to the zoning ordinance requiring apartment houses in R-3 zones to have at least 1,250 square feet of lot area for every unit instead of the present 1,000 square feet. This would cut down the number of units on a 5,000 square-foot lot from five to four; on a 6,000-foot lot, from six to four. It will now be up to the City Council to decide on the proposed ordinance.

They denied, by a narrow 4-3 vote, variance requested by Lincoln properties to permit their Phase II to have buildings 25 feet apart instead of 30 feet, at five different points — and thus brought development of the 688-unit project to a pause.

They voted, by a 4-2 margin to put into law a new zone, the O zone, in which virtually nothing would be permitted to be erected.

Only one man objected to the apartment house ordinance to cut down the number of units per lot — custom builder John Callicotte, 461 Beech Avenue, who pointed out that he has three parcels of R-3 land, which he had acquired with his savings, under the condition that he could build one unit per 100 square feet.

"I've been paying a tax based on that use," he added.

The ordinance, he told the planners, was "unfair — and in my opinion — arbitrary."

When Callicotte later tried to answer arguments put forth by some of the commissioners, he was told that he could not talk — the hearing was closed.

No other objections were raised — although some thousand parcels San Bruno of property were affected.

Commissioner Leon Miller alleged that the present ordinance has led to a "whole series of problems . . . to construction of many buildings which we have not been very proud of."

Crowding that many units onto one lot, he added, "doesn't leave room for any amenities. The purpose of planning is to enhance the appearance of the city . . . I don't think that one unit for just 1000 feet does it."

Chairman Victor Ogrey proposed that "because of extreme hardship for those who acquired property in good faith," that present owners of record might be allowed a year to build apartments under the present 1000-foot ratio.

Dep. City Atty. Dermot Fitzgerald noted that under new court rulings, they had to put in such a clause — and it had to give present owners at least two years. Under further questioning, he added that they could not stop this clause from applying to "land speculators," those buying the lots while the councilmen were discussing the proposed ordinance, and they could not even arbitrarily deny variances.

Dick McCleary, local manager for Lincoln Properties, reported that Phase I of the project, 232 units, was 60 per cent leased because of the unique architectural features, and that he was anxious to proceed with the second phase, 176 units, whose buildings would be merely a continuation of the present ones.

The architect had to place some of the buildings closer together at points because of certain technical problems; fire roads caused wider spaces at points and the land sloped at points.

⅞Miller brought out the point, however, that the underground parking structures, under the buildings, were 10 feet closer; however, Dep. Atty. Fitzgerald was in doubt as to whether they counted as part of the apartments.

The fire and police chiefs approved of the plan. Commissionr Jim Hensel said that this plan was just like the Phase I plan approved by the Commission; Miller retorted that just because the commission was not too careful, that was no reason to compound the problem.

The commission split 3-3 on the vote; Chairman Vic Ogrey broke the tie. (McCleary later told this newspaper that he had not decided whether to appeal to the Council or not.)

Two persons active on other city commissions spoke in favor of the proposed O zone. Henry Hein, of the Traffic Safety Commission, urged that areas of geological instability be held for open space use. Polly Sandkulla of the Parks and Recreation Commission, spoke about how difficult it frequently is to get areas just for open space.

Commissioner Jim Hensel opposed it.

"I don't think you can deny anyone the use of his land."

It was agreed, however, that the zone would have very narrow use and could only be applied with the consent of the owner.

The proposed ordinance stated as its purpose: " . . . to preserve a rural and natural atmosphere in an urban area or development to hold for future generations open space to preserve the environment."

Crop and tree farming would be always permitted. Uses subject to obtaining a use permit were listed as: golf courses, riding and hiking trails, parks (non-profit), private recreation facilities which area a part of any urban development and which is recorded as open space owned in common, structures accessory to any permitted use, and "any structure or use or removal of any vegetation that might tend to defeat the purposes of this district."

Guilty Plea By Student In Bombing

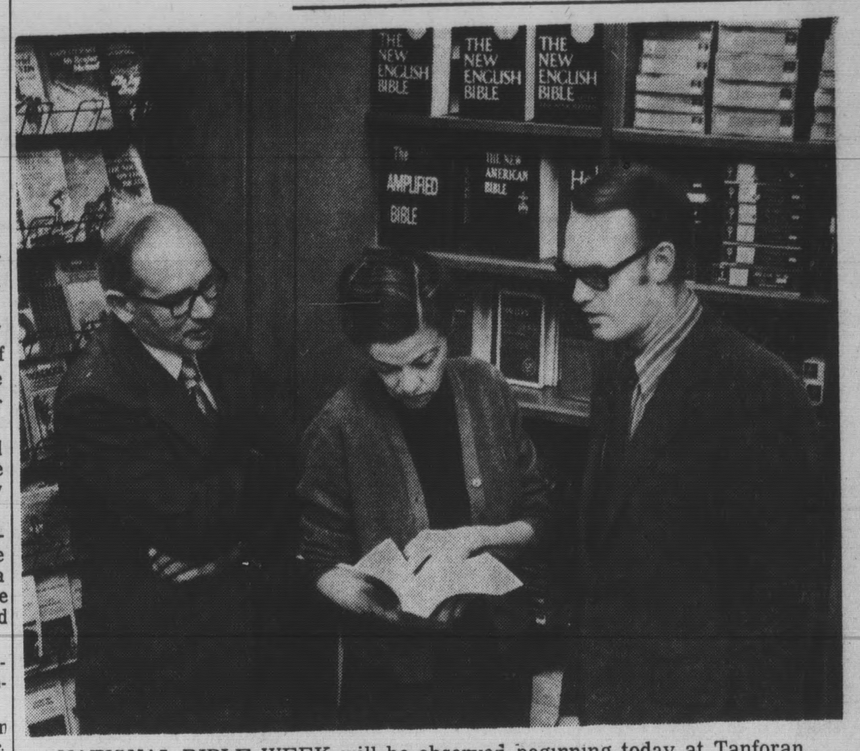
George Patterson, 20-year-old college student who was arrested after a firebomb was thrown onto the roof of a newspaper building in San Bruno last May 17, pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted arson Monday before Superior Judge Robert D. Miller in Redwood City.

Other charges of arson and possession of marijuana were dismissed following the guilty plea.

Patterson, who has an excellent academic record at Skyline College, was arrested after a firebomb was thrown on the roof of the San Bruno Herald building.

Judge Miller scheduled sentencing of Patterson for December 22 at 9 a.m.

Patterson's roommate, Byron L. McDonald, 22, who was arrested when police went to the young men's apartment to talk to Patterson and discovered a planter box containing growing marijuana plants, is scheduled to be sentenced in Superior Court November 26 following his plea of guilty to a charge of cultivating marijuana.



NATIONAL BIBLE WEEK will be observed beginning today at Tanforan Park Shopping Center. A local committee, headed by Pastor Mosely of the San Bruno Church of the Nazarene will display old and rare Bibles, new and modern translations of the Bible, picture posters, and Bible study samples. A film, "Faith for Every Frontier" will be shown continuously each day through Sunday beginning at 1 p.m. The display will be held in the upper mall. Preparing for the exhibits are, left to right, Wally Morgan, committee chairman, Child Evangelism Fellowship; Mary Sistrom, manager of Walden Book Store, Tanforan, and Pastor Mosely.

The Jeff Scene

By SUE MCALLISTER

The Jeff Marching Band attended Stanford's Band Day on Saturday, Oct. 23.

The students with band director Richard Larsen participated in the annual event with 41 Bay Area schools along with Westmoor, represented the Jefferson District.

Each band preformed the same music medley of several tunes "Stanford Band Day '71." Upon returning to school, every student commented on the enjoyable time he had.

Fern Tracey, Jeff senior, is now a finalist for the National Merit Scholarship for outstanding Negro Students. She must take her Scholastic Aptitude Test (S.A.T.) to determine her future standing.

Jeff had its first drama production on Saturday, October 30.

The event was aimed toward the child in all of us. "Way Way Down East" was the name of the project under the direction of Jeff Wentworth; the cast included Margie Talavera, the beautiful daughter; Eugene Cejude, the handsome hero Ronald; Shelley Johnson, the "Villian"; Fern Tracey and Mike Shumberger, B. J. Moneybags. This show was a melodrama and the audience participated by hissing and booing or cheering, where it applied to accompany the actors in their antics.

Homecoming is here! This Friday, Nov. 19, the entire Student Body will participate in many activities concerned with the festive activity. The day will begin with a rally which will welcome back last years Prep Staff as other factions of the school also participate.

A short homeroom is scheduled for voting for the Homecoming Court.

Next step in the day is the parade starting at 2 p.m., the game against Terra Nova and the Senior Dance that night from 8:30-11:30 p.m.

Terra Nova Topics

By Rockie Montenegro

A giant six-foot rabbit made the rounds at Terra Nova last week as a publicity gimmick for the upcoming school production, "Harvey," which opens this week, and will run for four nights: November 17, 18, 19, and 20.

Showtime is 8 p.m., at the TN cafetorium.

The comedy is about Elwood P. Dowd (Tim Kennedy) who befriends an invisible six-foot rabbit, Harvey.

Elwood's sister, Veta Louise Simmons (played by Pat Thompson), is trying to launch her daughter, Myrtle Mae (Carolyn Spinosa), into society. Dr. Chumley (Mark Patterson), resident psychiatrist at Chumley's Rest Sanatorium, and Mrs. Chaumenet (Roberta Croco), the eccentric neighbor, all add to the hilarity of the plot.

Other cast members include Judge Gaffney (Joel Farmer), Miss Johnson (Lisa Thompson), Dr. Sanderson (J. B. Gasowski), Wilson (Kevin Gage). Nurse Kelly (Cathy Goff), and Betty Chumley (Eileen Wilson).

Student director is Sue Booher, and drama instructor is Bambi Kampe.

Tickets for "Harvey" can be obtained at the door at $1.50 and $1. They will also be sold during both lunches.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN J. HARTLEIN

D.C. Couple Wed At Holy Angel's

Teresa Maria Perla recently became the bride of John J. Hartlein in afternoon cremonies at Holy Angels Church in Daly City.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Faustino Perla of Daly City, the new Mrs. Hartlein attended Jefferson High School and Skyline College.

Hartlein, son of the Edward Hartleins, also of Daly City, attended Sacred Heart High School and San Mateo City College.

Luisa Perla was maid of honor for her sister, while Rhonda Lewis, Sandie Ricetti, Chris Girgosian were bridesmaids and Margaret Hartlein the flower girl.

Best man was Gary LeCoza and Bill Perla, Fred Condo and Bill Johnson were the ushers. John Perez was ringbearer.

A reception for over 100 guests was held at the Sons of Italy hall in San Francisco.

The couple is at home in Daly City.

Coroner Rules Out 'Suicide'

The coroner's office has changed from suicide to "accident, self inflicted," the death of a South San Francisco housewife who died of a gunshot wound on October 16.

According to officials, the change was prompted because they were told the victim's step-father and husband had cautioned the victim repeatedly about playing with a gun.

Mrs. June Lea Lopez, 26, of 974 Brusco Way was found by her husband lying on the floor of their home. He told police he had earlier heard what sounded like a gunshot.

The victim was taken to Mary's Help Hospital where she died of a gunshot wound in the chest.

Police at the time said they found no notes but had been informed that the victim had been undergoing psychiatric treatment.

They initially ruled the death as suicide. However, now, as with the coroner, that ruling has been changed to accidental.

Woman's Role To be Discussed

Holy Angels Women's Guild is holding their Annual Day of Recollection on Thursday in the Parish Hall, 107 San Pedro Road, Colma.

Moderator for the day will be Rev. John D. Riley, Associate of the St. Andrew's Community.

The activity will begin at 9:30 a.m. and end at 2:30 p.m. Celebration of the Mass will be at 2 p.m. Father Riley's topic will be the woman's role in the church.

All women of the parish, friends and interested parties are invited to attend.

Twins Club Is Meeting Today

The Coastside Mothers of Twins Club will meet today at 8 p.m., in the San Bruno Public Library Conference room.

All mothers of multiple births are welcome.

The program will include a mini-sale and discussions on twin problems. Ideas and suggestions will be exchanged: both a help and a challenge on "How to Survive with Twins."

A Thanksgiving progressive dinner is the social activity planned for November.

Scholarship to Miss Cannova

Marlene Cannova of 1715 Sweethood Drive in Colma, has received a $250 scholarship by Branch 19, Colma, of the Italian Catholic Federation.

A graduate of Westmoor High School, she is one of the 20 scholarship winners out of a field of over 500 applicants in the Italian Catholic Federation's annual scholarship competition.

Tahoe Trip by Ct. St. Mary

Court St. Mary No. 1155, Catholic Daughters of America, will sponsor a bus trip to Lake Tahoe, South Shore, on Saturday and Sunday.

The bus will leave from in front of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church, 80 Wellington Avenue, Daly City, at 8 a.m. Saturday.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Maurice Clark (755-6431).

Court St. Mary No. 1155 will hold its monthly social Thursday at 8 p.m. at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Hall.

Highlight of the evening will be an "apron parade."

The aprons will be donated later for the Court's Mission Program.
